BRITISH BLAST GERMAN BASES

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A 100-bomb-a-minute air raid on Nazi-held coastal bases opposite England, possibly supported by shell fire from long range guns and warships, paced a far-flung British counter offensive today which extended to Berlin and northern Italy.

International News Photo

ONE 'CHUTE . . . NOT USED—The only reason the Nazi raider flying his plane over England didn't use this parachute when his craft was disabled by British bullets, was the fact that he was shot dead in the skirmish. British soldiers examine the 'chute . . . standing beside the wrecked plane.

The repeatedly bombed bases again bore the brunt of the overnight attack in which the authoritative British Press Ass'n estimated an "avalanche" of at least 15,000 bombs were dropped in two and a half hours.

The British air ministry reported "extensive operations" during the night included raids on Berlin, other parts of Germany, and on northern Italy.

Bern dispatches said British bombers crossed the Swiss frontier "at many places" headed for Italy.

An Italian communique reported eight persons killed and 15 injured in attacks on several of Italy's northern provinces.

Berlin residents were sent to shelters for the first time in five nights by a raid during which the German news agency, DNB, said an apartment house was wrecked and numerous civilians were killed and injured.

ITALIAN CITIES BOMBED

Some casualties were reported at Verona by the Italians, who said bombs hit a charitable institution there housing 60 orphans and 150 others.

Other bombs fell at Pavia, Alessandria and near Savona.

Some homes were demolished in Pavia province, where four per-

'NO,' F. D. REPLIES TO WILLKIE'S BID

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21 (AP)—President Roosevelt, a secretary said today, is not accepting Wendell L. Willkie's offer to share an auditorium with him in Baltimore Oct. 30.

Stephen T. Early, the President's press secretary, said that rather than in Baltimore or Washington on that date Mr. Roosevelt probably would speak at the Academy of Music hall in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Asked whether the Chief Executive had any disposition to accept Willkie's challenge to debate, Early remarked that it had been a "public" challenge.

Then he added to a reporter at his press conference:

"If I were going to invite you to my home, I'd send you the invitation, and I don't think I'd send it if I knew you weren't coming."

WHY HE PICKED BROOKLYN

Originally, Early explained, the President intended to speak on Oct. 30 in Constitution Hall, Washington. But Chairman Edward J. Flynn and his associates on the Democratic national committee suggested he make an address in Baltimore.

Apparently, Early continued, they did not know the only available and sizable auditorium in Baltimore already had been leased by the Republicans for that night.

While Mr. Roosevelt had said he

Hitler Bans All War News for 7 Hours Nightly

A Hitler order banning each day the sending of military news of any nature out of Germany between the hours of 11 p. m. and 6 a. m. (Berlin time) aroused wide speculation today.

The decree applies not only to what is happening in Germany, but to the German version of what is happening over England.

The "dead" hours for military information correspond to 4 p. m. to 11 p. m., Boston time.

The other apparently has nothing to do with the Royal Air Force raids on Berlin because news other than that of a military nature is exempt from the order. Political and other spot news may be sent during the hours under ban.

All news services and foreign correspondents are effected by the decree and what happens of a military nature in Germany during the seven late night and early morning hours cannot be told until after 6 a. m. Berlin time or 11 p. m. Boston time.

The order will keep secret seizure of rail systems or other moves that, in the past, have preceded and topped-off a major German offensive.

Bombs Break U. S. Embassy Windows

LONDON, Oct. 21 (AP)—Windows were smashed in the United States' big new embassy building on Grosvenor sq. in a recent Nazi air raid, but the red brick, white-trimmed colonial structure was not badly damaged.

No member of the staff was injured.

Permission was given today by British censors to tell about it.

A German plane laid a stick of bombs across the big square in London's fashionable West End. One demolished a house, damaged two others across the square and blew in a few windows of the embassy.

Another bomb failed to explode immediately, but dug itself a deep pit about 50 feet from the front door. It went off a few hours later, blasted more windows and hurled soil and stones on the roof and against the front wall.

INTERIOR UNDAMAGED

The inside was not damaged and a spokesman said today "we're still open for business."

Ten persons were killed in the same raid when a big German bomb crashed near the Y. M. C. A. headquarters in Great Russell st., blasting out doors and windows and blowing down inside partitions.

Between 400 and 500 members sheltered in the gymnasium were not hurt.

Although the outside walls were not badly damaged, officials said they would not be able to use the building again until after the war.

Nazi air raiders, roaring across the coast above an unusually heavy anti-aircraft barrage, fanned out today in scattered hit-and-run attacks on Britain.

Alarms sounded twice in London during the morning. Two bombs

Jap Planes Hit At Burma Road

HONGKONG, Oct. 21 (AP)—Japanese naval warplanes damaged vital bridges spanning the Lantsang River on the Burma road feeding the Central Chinese government's war machine, semi-official Japanese reports here said today.

These reports said scores of trucks carrying supplies "were seen scattering in various directions in order to avoid destruction" by the bombers.

Japs Warned On Dutch Oil

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Oct. 21 (AP)—Dutch oil wells and refineries in the Netherlands East Indies would be blown "sky high" if the Japanese attacked the islands, Lieut. Commander Harloff, chief of the Dutch airforce in Britain, said today.

Harloff, here en route to the East Indies, said the Japanese had been so warned.

He added that the Japanese could be held off a long time if they attacked the East Indies because "there are no fifth column traitors."

LONDON TO EVACUATE CIVILIANS

LONDON, Oct. 21 (AP)—The government took steps today to expedite the removal of London's civilian population to places of safety outside the capital and improve the lot of those compelled to stay in the danger zone.

Malcolm McDonald, minister of health, told authorities in the reception areas to use their compulsory billeting powers "without hesitation where necessary and to make the fullest possible use of empty houses."

McDonald disclosed that many civilians are themselves arranging to leave London and this exodus, together with the government removals, necessitated more extensive use of the billeting system.

To eliminate long lines in front of public air raid shelters used for sleeping, Herbert Morrison, minister of home security, authorized the London civil defense region to issue admission tickets as an experiment.

"I have been anxious to do away, as soon as and as far as possible, with the abomination of the queue," Morrison said.

"The people of London have quite enough to put up with at present without the hardship and waste of time involved in queueing up for shelter or arriving in the shelter hours beforehand to reserve places."

He added that the scheme would begin with a few shelters. Subway stations are excluded at present.

Draft Snarled Here; Drawing Set Oct. 29

Massachusetts' Selective Service machinery was badly crippled, it was disclosed this afternoon as announcement came that the national draft lottery would be held at noon on Oct. 29.

With only eight days to go for the drawing that will determine the order in which registrants will be called, there were thousands of men who still have no serial numbers in the state.

Hundreds of others in Boston alone, who had failed to register for one reason or another, were trying to find headquarters of local draft boards which had as yet established no headquarters.

Nine boards in downtown and suburban sections had not even called for the cards of the registrants in their areas. These cards were in the safe at election commission offices in City Hall.

ONLY 4 LISTS IN

Only four communities in this state had forwarded their lists of registrants with their serial numbers to the State Selective Service headquarters in Massachusetts ave., Back Bay.

Boards that had not yet begun to move were looking for headquarters. Nobody was quite sure what boards were moving or even ready.

It had been hoped and planned that all registrants would have received their serial numbers by this date at the latest and the widespread confusion was a bitter blow to the men trying to organize the state machinery.

SCHOOL BOARD ASKS PAY

An instance of what was going on was reported from East Boston, where draft board No. 13 is under chairmanship of Judge Anthony Centracchio of the district court.

Albert U. Rosa, a colleague on the board, said that the justice and he had been trying for five days to find a suitable office for the draft work.

"It has to be 600 square feet," Rosa explained, "and nobody who hasn't tried to find one that will satisfy government rules would ever suspect what a job it is.

"The judge and I asked the

The secret marriage of Edythe Wright (here), well-known singer, to Dr. James F. Higgins, staff physician at Boston City Hospital, was revealed today . . . the couple being married last Tuesday at Barre, Vt. The disclosure was made during a party for Miss Wright, tendered her by Filmstress Martha Raye in New York.

REVERE GIRL WEDS NEW YORKER—Honeymooning today with Kenneth Price Dillon, 27-year-old Manhattan attorney, is pretty Elizabeth Rotherham of Revere. She was a taxi-dancer in a Times sq., New York, dance hall. After a three-week whirlwind romance, the couple were married in the Dutch Reformed Church in New York. Dillon was once married to Socialite Virginia Jane Schepps of Park ave. His parents are wealthy Topeka, Kan., residents.

THIRD WORCESTER TRIPLETS IN A YEAR

WORCESTER, Oct. 21—A trifle dazed, but bearing up heroically, Peter H. Krog went back to work today at the Bell Co. worsted mills. H ehad just been presented by his wife with triplets—all boys—at Fairlawn Hospital.

The triplets were born to Mrs. Emma Krog, the 37-year-old wife, within 16 minutes in the early morning hours, with Dr. Smith Philips officiating.

They were weighed in at 4 pounds 10 ounces, 4 pounds 11 ounces and 5 pounds 14 ounces. All are described as husky youngsters, but as a precaution the smallest two were placed in incubators.

The Krogs—said Peter, when he had recovered from the first shock—have been married 11 years and live in Glendale st.

They have two other children, Victor, 10, and Ella, 7, and so far as Krog knew there have been no multiple births previous on either side of the family.

Krog, 44 years old, is a weaver.

These are the third set of triplets born in Worcester during the past 12 months, the other two sets arriving at St. Vincent's Hospital.

Triplets Weigh 17 Lbs. And This Cop Is Happy

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 21 (AP)—Triplets weighing a total of 17 pounds and three ounces were born to Mrs. James Smith at St. Mary's Hospital.

Sister Mary John Francis said she believed the weight constituted a record, at least for Kansas City. The triplets were the first ever born in the Hospital.

The father, a former police officer, expressed surprise, then pleasure, when shown the three infants.

"Just to think, all are mine!" he said.

The first baby, a girl, weighed 6 pounds, 4 ounces. The second, a girl also, weighed 6 pounds, 4 ounces. The third, a boy, weighed 4 pounds, 11 ounces.

Columbia History Professor Dies

NEW YORK, Oct. 21 (AP)—Holland Thompson, 67, author and instructor in history at Columbia University and the College of the City of New York since 1900, died of a heart attack today in his home.

Prof. Thompson was widely known for his writings on the history and economics of the South. He was a native of Randolph county, N. C.

Forgot All About Draft, Registers

"I want to register for the draft," he said. "I forgot all about it."

Five feet four inches tall, of Italian birth and not a citizen, the gentleman explained that his name was Bartholomew A. Poledri, that he was 34, a restaurant worker and living in Causeway st., North End.

"My memory's as short as I am," he regretted. "I heard about this draft but forgot what day it was."

F. D. TO DRAW NO. 1 IN DRAFT LOTTERY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21 (AP)—President Roosevelt will draw the first number in the draft lottery at noon on Oct. 29. Dr. Clarence A. Dykstra, Selective Service director, made the announcement today after a conference with the Chief Executive.

Dykstra said the drawing would be held in the interdepartmental auditorium adjacent to the Labor Department building in Washington ,with the Chief Executive pulling the first number from the glass goldfish bowl used in the World War draft.

Dykstra said they did not discuss whether Mr. Roosevelt would be blindfolded and that additional details would be announced later by his organization. But the draft numbers, he said, will be enclosed in the same blue capsules used in the last draft. He showed reporters one of them, with a small tag bearing the number 258—the first in the lottery in World War days.

Dykstra said he did not know who would take over the bulk of the drawing after Mr. Roosevelt had selected the first number, but that he thought the process would take at least 12 hours.

The numbers drawn will correspond with serial numbers assigned to more than 16,500,000 men who are registered for selective military service last week. The order in which the numbers are drawn will determine the order in which the men in each draft area are called for service.

Drawings will continue until numbers have been reached exceeding the highest serial number assigned in any selective service area. The reason for exceeding the top serious number, Dykstra said, is to "be sure that late comers get a number."

Kennedy in Adieu To King George

LONDON, Oct. 21 (AP)—Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy made an informal farewell to King George and Queen Elizabeth at Windsor Castle, which lies close to his country home.

The ambassador, who already had taken leave of Prime Minister Churchill and had made an extensive tour of London's worst bombed areas, saw the king and queen as one of his last acts before leaving early this week for Washington.

First Snow Gives Hub Shivers; Colder Tomorrow

Boston had its first snow of the autumn today as unseasonably cold weather continued to grip the entire northeast.

Driven by a stiff north wind, the snow whitened Rockingham race track in New Hampshire, then drifted down to Middlesex valley and by midforenoon a few flakes were coming down in Boston.

The weather bureau predicted a light fall with clearing tonight, fair and still colder tomorrow.

Northwest winds will keep the cold wave here for a day or two more, the weatherman said.

Today's snow broke no records. According to the weather bureau, the earliest autumn snowstorm recorded in Boston was on Oct. 14, 1922.

Just by way of contrast, it was once 82 in Boston on Oct. 21. That was in 1920.

211TH QUITS CAPE CAMP FOR TEXAS

FALMOUTH, Oct. 21—With adieus all said and tears all shed, the first section of a special train carrying the 211th Coast Artillery, anti-aircraft, to a year's intensive training in Texas, pulled away from North Falmouth today a half-hour head of schedule.

Aboard this first section of four, transporting a total of 1450 officers and men, were the headquarters battalion, Battery C, Battery H and a medical detail—all in command of Capt. Oscar C. Boblin.

The passenger cars, carrying nearly half of the men in this first section, made a brief stop at Buzzards Bay, where flat cars bearing the organization's mechanized equipment hooked on.

THIRD SECTION DEPARTS

Afterward came the departure of the third section, with Maj. Francis R. Sweeney in charge and with Batteries B and G aboard.

Col. Stuart G. Hall, commander of the 211th, was in charge of the fourth and final section, which trailed with Batteries D and E.

Three score flat cars carried the mechanized and other equipment to be used in the year's intensive training at Fort Hulen, the Texas army post near the Gulf of Mexico.

Dramatically, Col. Hall summed up the spirit of his command when he declared in a farewell statement:

ORIGINATED IN 1741

The 211th, made up of Boston's famed First Corps Cadets, traces its history back to 1741 when the Corps became the official bodyguard for the Royal Governor of Massachusetts Bay Colony.

Although the sections are designated as one train, each section will take a different route to the Texas destination, with the last section due to arrive first at Fort Hulen—at 6 a. m. Friday. The other sections arrive later on the same day.

Difference in the routing is because of the types of equipment carried, particularly the huge aerial searchlights, which have been given special routing to avoid low bridges.

Most of the leave-taking had been done yesterday at Camp Edwards here, where the 211th had a month of preliminary training.

Wives, mothers and sweethearts flooded the camp throughout Sunday for the goodbys. Today there were comparatively few on hand to bid the boys goodby all over again.

Anti-Freeze Drink Fatal

Bristol County Farm prisoner was dead today after drinking an anti-freeze mixture, state police reported.

According to State Detective Francis Clemmey, Everett R. Smith, 23, or New Bedford, left the County Farm at Attleboro with another prisoner on an unauthorized trip, during which they bought the liquid.

Dever Releases Goldman Report

The 1500-page report of Judge Jacob J. Kplan in regard to the activities of Asst. Atty.-Gen. Maurice M. Goldman was turned over to Judge Frederic H. Chase, president of the Boston Bar Association, by Atty.-Gen. Dever today.

Judge Kaplan was appointed last February to investigate complaints made by Atty. Reuben L. Lurie of Boston, who charged that Goldman was using his public position for personal advantage in his private practice of law.

Judge Chase today referred the voluminous report to a committee of the Bas Association.

Traffic Drive Pressure Is On

Intensifying a drive to relieve congested traffic conditions, special details of traffic police today were patrolling the down-town area with orders to enforce parking regulations to the letter.

Tags were being distrubuted to cars standing in the street more than five minutes and to trucks parked more than 20 minutes for unloading.

More than 300 cars were tagged Saturday, but the real force of the drive will be felt today, Deputy Supt. John T. O'Dea, of the traffic division, stated.

From the outlying districts, mounted police motorcycle officers and traffic police were brought into the downtown area to see that no car left more than the exact five minutes is left untagged.

Swapping Horses In Mid-Stream To Be Tried Out

NEW YORK, Oct. 21 (INS)—Democrats supporting Willkie will attempt to prove that you can change a horse in midstream without suffering ill-results.

The equine experiment, designed to show the voters that denial of a third term to President Roosevelt would prove no great catastrophe despite the critical foreign situation, will take place Wednesday afternoon on the Civil War battlefield between Arlington, Va., and Leesburg, Va., it was announced today.

A horse and buggy will be driven into the stream that flows across the historic battleground. The horse leading the parade from Arlington to Leesburg will be replaced by a fresh animal and the parade will continue.

Canadian Group To Back Dever

Thomas J. Barry of Boston, vice-president of the Canadian-American League, announced today the organization of a Massachusetts Canadian committee for Roosevelt and Dever.

Some of the most prominent Canadians in the Commonwealth compose the new committee, the announcement said, while emphasizing that it was speaking "solely as individuals and not as representatives of the various Canadian groups, which are non-political, non-sectarian and non-racial."

"It is a matter of common knowledge, however," the statement said, "that the sympathies of the vast majority of the Americans of Canadian descent in Massachusetts are 100 per cent with Roosevelt and Dever."

Actor's Death Laid To Fall in Love Tilt

Withdrawing their original listing of suicide, New York police today said a plunge to death of Waldemar Wysocki, 25, Broadway actor and former Harvard boxing champion, was taken under even more dramatic circumstances.

In a quarrel with his estranged wife, said police, the actor and dramatist, whose home was at Salem, lunged at his wife, missed and plunged through a window of her third-floor apartment, hurtling to the street.

Only last July 4, Wysocki was married to the former Mary Rockwell, divorcee, and 10 days ago they became estranged, police said. The wife ordered him barred from her home, they added.

It was learned that he forced his way into the apartment yesterday, however, in an attempt to effect a reconciliation—an attempt, however that ended with another violent quarrel.

Wysocki, who had appeared recently as an actor with Grace George in "Lady In Waiting," had directed a number of plays along Massachusetts' fashionable North Shore and produced "The Nutmeg Tree" for Brock Pemberton at Gloucester last summer.

After leaving Harvard, Wysocki attended the Academy of Allied Arts here, studying under the direction of Dr. Lilia Motyleff, Russian director.

His wife is a member of the Art League of New York and has shown pictures in the Chicago Art Institute and the Connecticut Museum at Hartford. She was divorced from her first husband, William Rockwell, about ten years ago in Beloit, Wis.

Rumanians Move For Extradition Of Carol's Magda

BERLIN, Oct. 21 (INS)—A German official news agency (DNB) dispatch from Bucharest said today it is understood Rumania will demand the extradition of Mme. Magda Lupescu from Spain, where she fled with King Carol after his abdication.

Grounds on which the demand will be based, the report stated, are that Mme. Lupescu, Carol's favorite companion for 15 years, was responsible for the assassination of Corneliu Codreanu, Iron Guard leader.

Mme. Undset Lays Wreath On Ericson Statue Here

Mme. Sigrid Undset, famous Norwegian author and winner of the Nobel prize, braved this mornin's snow flurry to place a wreath on the statue of Leif Ericson at Commonwealth ave. and Charlesgate West.

"It feels like a real Norwegian morning," said Mme. Undset, who is in mourning for her 26-year-old son, who was killed in the Nazi invasion of Norway.

Present at the brief ceremony were Monsignor Michael J. Splaine of St. Mary's Church, Brookline; Rev. William Reilly and Mrs. Edward C. Donnelly, chairman of the lecture committee of the League of Catholic Women.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21—For the first time in his three contests for the Presidency Franklin D. Roosevelt is trailing his Republican opponent in New York State, the New York Daily News Straw Poll revealed today.

Wendell L. Willkie enjoys only a hairline lead but its existence as the poll passes the one-quarter mark is in sharp contrast to the huge leads enjoyed by Roosevelt in 1932 and again 1936.

Fifth ave., which never liked Roosevelt, but nonetheless gave him 43.4 per cent of its vote in 1932 and 45.7 per cent in 1936, materially aided Willkie's drive for the lead.

The so-called silk stocking 15th Assembly District slashed its vote for Roosevelt this year to 30.7 per cent. But Fifth ave. alone is not responsible for the sharp reversal in indicated voting trends.

Outside of New York city Willkie figures hover from just under 70 to just over 75 per cent. In Brooklyn he has captured two important assembly districts and a sampling in Buffalo gives him a two to one lead.

Two Roxbury Sisters Will Wed Tonight

Two West Roxbury sisters, Helen and Kathleen Cockshaw, will be married tonight at a double wedding ceremony at the Church of Our Saviour, Roslindale.

Helen will wed John C. Walthers of Roslindale and Kathleen will marry William E. Harrison of Philadelphia. The brides-to-be are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Cockshaw of Rexhorne st., West Roxbury.

Seven members of the Cockshaw family will take part in the wedding. Edith and Helen Cockshaw will be bridesmails for both their sisters and Norman Cockshaw will be Walther's best man.

Mr. Cockshaw will give both his daughters away and his eldest son, Clifford, will be head usher.

Rev. J. Gordon Carey will officiate at the ceremony.

After the weddings a reception will be held at Fidelia Hall, West Roxbury.

Mr. and Mrs. Walthers will make their home in West Roxbury. Mr. and Mrs. Harrison will live in Philadelphia.

Car Mystery Death Probed

LAKEVILLE, Oct. 21—State pathologists and police today sought to unravel the mystery death of Norman Hill, 21, of Main st., whose body was found fully 100 yards from an automobile set up for a carbon monoxide poisoning death.

Hill, a truckman, vanished October 9 in a machine borrowed from a friend.

Dr. Allen Moritz and Dr. Herbert Lund, state police experts, were called in by Medical Examiner Vincent Smith to perform an autopsy in an effort to determine whether the victim walked to the spot where the body was found and then collapsed.

Found by three boys who were taking a hike, the body of the young truckman lay in a clump of bushes at the bottom of a 30-foot embankment.

Girl in Coma 9 Days Shows Improvement

Although she has been in a coma now for 228 hours, Mary MacNeil, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman J. MacNeil of Waybosset st., East Weymouth, today showed progress in her fight for life at Weymouth Hospital.

WILLKIE CHALLENGES F. D. TO DEBATE IN BALTIMORE

ABOARD WILLKIE TRAIN EN ROUTE TO MILWAUKEE, Oct. 21 (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie began the final two weeks of his presidential campaign today by urging that President Roosevelt debate with him in Baltimore, Oct. 30.

The Republican nominee, who two months ago challenged the chief executive to a series of debates on national issues, said last night he had been told that his backers obtained the only sizeable hall for that date.

"As a result," added a statement issued from Willkie's train, "it is understood Mr. Roosevelt was compelled to cancel his proposed Baltimore speaking engagement for that date.

WOULD SHARE PLATFORM

"Mr. Willkie, in an effort to avoid any possible inconvenience to the President or disappointment to the people of Baltimore, has wired those in charge of arranging his meeting to get in touch with those who had been arranging for the President's appearance and offer to share the platform with Mr. Roosevelt.

"Mr. Willkie informed the committee he would be delighted to have the President on the same platform with him in Baltimore."

The Baltimore talk will be one of the last campaign addresses given by Willkie, who was traveling through Wisconsin today preparatory to a speech in Milwaukee this evening. The latter is expected to be addressed primarily to young voters.

The nominee will speak in Chicago tomorrow night, and then will head east for the remainder of the week. His last major address will be in Madison Square Garden, New York, on Nov. 2.

THREE OTHER CITIES

Before that time he will appear in Lousiville, Oct. 28, Charleston, W. Va., Oct. 29, and Camden, N. J., Oct. 31. In addition, he will continue making brief talks from the platform of his private car.

Mr. and Mrs. Willkie remained on their train yesterday while it was parked in the Minneapolis railroad yards. They left it for two hours late in the afternoon for a private showing of campaign newsreels.

From the lounge of his private car Willkie took part in a radio program for the mobilization for human needs. Declaring that "the spirit of sacrifice for others still lives," he said:

"We have had great opportunities in America, and we are engaged in a great struggle to preserve those opportunities against great forces of evil let loose in the world."

Mentioning his campaign trips across the United States "in what I believe to be a great cause," Willkie reported that he had found men and women everywhere concerned with the country's future.

On Saturday night Willkie addressed a crowd which filled the 12,000 seats of the Minneapolis municipal auditorium, telling the audience that he had not promised "to pull white rabbits out of tall silk hats." He declared, however, that "we can accomplish the miracle of a safe, strong, and prosperous America" by "hard work, faith in ourselves, and sound leadership in government."

Adding to his prepared text, he said he wanted to ask President Roosevelt "how he can claim to be a liberal reform leader while having the Frank Hagues, the Kelly-Nashes and the Ed Flynns trying to steal elections in three of our major cities."

More Stations Added For Al Smith Talk

NEW YORK, Oct. 21 (INS)—A flood of requests has made it necessary to expand the radio broadcast of the speech to be made by Alfred E. Smith on behalf of Wendell L. Willkie Wednesday to a coast-to-coast hookup, the national committee of Democrats for Willkie announced today.

Smith, 1928 Democratic presidential nominee, will highlight the oratorical barrage Wednesday, which has been officially designated by the Republicans as "National No Third Term Day." Smith will speak at the Academy of Music, Brooklyn.

Kelly on Tour For Roosevelt

Assignment of former Lieut. Gov. Francis E. Kelly to the national speakers bureau working in behalf of President Roosevelt's campaign for re-election was revealed today with Kelly's departure on a speaking tour of the East and Middle West.

Selection of Kelly, who holds the distinction of being the youngest man ever elected lieutenant governor in the United States, is attributed to his continued interest in and knowledge of electric power and light problems.

Starting in Pennsylvania tonight, Kelly will keep speaking engagements in Illinois, Indiana and Ohio. The tour will conclude with two speeches in Cleveland on Saturday.

Babson Sees 8 U.S. Changes From War

Forecasting eight changes in American life as the aftermath of World War II, Roger W. Babson today told delegates to the National Association of Commercial Organization Secretaries' convention at the Copley-Plaza he expects a long conflict which will end in a stalemate.

General business in most communities and industries will be better, Babson said, with employment, wages, profits and prices headed higher along with taxes.

Babson based his eight forecasts on the assumption war will end with Germany in control of western Europe and England intact and in control of the seas. He also said he looks for an English-American-Chinese axis to offset the German-Italian-Japanese pact.

SEES PROHIBITION BACK

The forecasts included: A great shakeup in industry and jobs, reductions in farm subsidies, attempts to rid schools of politics, more attention to eugenics, consolidation of religious denominations, population decentralization, either a new and strong third party or a one-party system and the rebirth of prohibition.

In his opinion, Babson said, it will be most important for every family to have one or more members expert mechanics for they will always get employment no matter what happens to stocks bonds and real estate.

After the war is over, he told his audience many people believe the coalition or third party will be forced by members of the air corps who will then be the most influential group in every nation.

When World War II ends, Babson said he believed prohibition would again be respected and a serious attempt would be made to prohibit all evils which undermine the youth of the nation.

TALKS ON DEFENSE

Ben B. Lawshe, manager of the commercial division of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, addressed the delegates on "Gearing Into the National Defense Program."

He said the extent to which chambers of commerce gear into the program depends upon the attitude of chambers toward defense, facilities available for service and future developments.

Noting that some people had felt there was little that Chambers of Commerce could do, Lawshe said it is probable every such body worthy of its name would be able to render a number of practical defense services before the emergency is over.

Tonight the convention will observe the annual "Play-Nite" dinner sponsored by the New England association.

AT SECRETARIES' CONVENTION—The National Ass'n of Commercial Organization Secretaries meets at Copley Plaza hotel today in celebration of its 26th anniversary. Present were Mrs. Edward B. Caulkins of Boston, co-chairman of women's activities; Mrs. Elizabeth S. Bissell of New Kingston, Penn., the organization secretary, and Mrs. M. D. Liming of Boston, co-chairman of women's activties. Speaker Roger W. Babson told delegates general business in most communities and industries will be better.

Home Fires Fatal To 5 Are Probed

Officials today were probing an unprecedented series of week-end tragedies in New England—the deaths of five persons as a result of home fires.

Two victims, including a girl, had been smoking in bed, while a man who was asleep in a burning building may have been saved the same fate by barking pet dogs.

The dead:

Miss Josephine Rudaitis, 24, of Brockton, who fell asleep while smoking in bed in the Gold st., South Boston, home of her godmother, Mrs. Nettie Armon.

CIGARETTE IN LIPS

Herbert J. Wolfe, World War veteran, guest at Hotel Brigham on Washington st., who, officers said, went to bed in a third floor room with a burning cigarette in his lips.

John F. McShea, 37, of Queensbury st., Back Bay, whose body was found in his apartment, which showed evidence that a fire, believed to have occurred last week, had burned itself out unnoticed by other occupants of the building.

Dorothy Storey, 50, of Grove st., Fall River, who fainted and fell across a lighted portable oil stove and before the flames could be extinguished was fatally burned. Her mother, Mrs. Emma Hiscox, was critically burned.

TRAPPED BY FIRE

Mrs. Chester Fitzgerald, 35, of Myrtle Beach, Milford, Ct., a bedridden invalid, trapped when fire damaged her home and two other cottages.

Rescued by a neighbor as a result of the barking of two pet dogs was Archie LeBaron, 48, who had been found asleep in the Goodenough House, a landmark at Foster and Mt. Vernon sts., Brighton, when fire broke out in his bedroom.

Beck, Ex-Pole Official, Tries to Flee Rumania

BUDAPEST, Oct. 21 (INS)—Former Polish Foreign Minister Joseff Beck, interned in Rumania since Poland was over-run by the Nazis, made an unsuccessful attempt to leave that country with a false British passport, according to reports received in Budapest today.

These advices said Beck escaped from his place of internment at Snagov, Rumania, and went to Constanza, where he attempted to sail to Turkey. He was arrested on the gangway of a ship by Rumanian police, it was reported.

Fortunate? He Lives Up to Name

TYNGSBORO, Oct. 21 (AP)—Out of control, an automobile plowed through two telephone poles today, mowed down five concrete guard rail posts, and plunged down a 15-foot embankment.

BOATS RUSH TO RESCUE

LONDON, Oct. 21 (AP)—The air ministry disclosed that motor-boats have been sent to rescue 24 survivors of a ship who were eighted adrift by bombers on coastal patrol flights.

U. S. SEEKS 412 'CHUTE SOLDIERS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21 (AP)—The army asked for 412 volunteers possessing "agility, intelligence, initiative and daring" to form the first American parachute battalion.

Promised extra pay and unusual chances for promotion, they will be selected from 24 regular army infantry regiments. No man drafted for a year's service need apply, it was said

Stressing that there would be "extremely careful selection of personnel," the War Department listed these qualifications for the hazardous service:

Men volunteering to fight behind the lines of a foe in the event of war must be single, between 21 and 32 years old, weigh not more than 185 pounds and must be free of heart disease. They must have had at least a year's army service and sufficient education to absorb readily instruction in map reading, sketching, radio, use of explosives and other specialized subjects.

The volunteers will combine with a small experimental platoon already in service at Fort Benning, Ga., to form the 501st Parachute Battalion. At least one other such battalion is contemplated, Secretary Stimson has disclosed.

BAY STATE CUTS AUTO FATALITIES

Massachusetts motorists today boasted one of the best driving records in months with the mortality rate cut last week to eight, one fewer than the week before and 10 fewer than in the corresponding week a year ago. The decrease was highly praised by Registrar Frank A. Goodwin.

"The record of eight fatalities for this second week in October is remarkably low," said Goodwin. "Last year during the same period there were 18 killed.

"The remarkable thing about the deaths last week is that the entire reduction was in pedestrians. In other words, there were only five pedestrians killed as compared with 16 a year ago.

"Great credit should be given to the motorists of this state for this splendid record, because it indicates clearly that they have shown a willingness to co-operate in reducing their speed.

"Another gratifying result of the reduction in speed was that there was only one child killed last week, as compared with six in the corresponding week a year ago.

"During the week 129 licenses were taken away for driving after drinking, and 503 were suspended for improper operation.

"Total deaths last year to date, 413; this year to date, 433."

The evenings entertainment will begin with a concert by the Boston Fire Department band. There will be dancing from 11 p. m. to 1 a. m., as well as other entertainment.

Runnells Probe Leads To Maine Cash Probe

AUGUSTA, Me., Oct. 21—Aftermath of the Runnells financial fiasco, Maine legislators today convened in special session for a far-reaching probe into the State's fiscal affairs.

Expected was the final report of the Tompkins committee, which has been delving into conditions revealed by auditor's reports which led to conviction of State Controller William A. Runnells on embezzlement charges.

Roslindale Man Declared Suicide

A suicide verdict was given today in the death of Fred G. Lundquist, 26, of Glendower st., Roslindale, whose body was found in his parked automobile in a wooded section of Westwood. He had been missing since Oct. 17.

A rubber tube extended from the exhaust pipe to the interior of the machine, where Lundquist's body was found by a group of boy hikers.

NEW TAXES BEWILDER BRITONS

LONDON, Oct. 21—Nazi bombers have failed to bewilder the British public, but today it appeared the tax collector has knocked the entire island groggy with his new sales taxes, which went into effect at midnight.

Shoppers and salespeople alike were in a dither as to the amount they should pay in taxes. This is because the use to which various articles are put determines the levy.

For instance, take the glass bowl situation. If the buyer is going to use it to bake a cake, the tax is 16 per cent. If for flowers, then 33 per cent. But if for sanitary purposes there is no tax at all.

ALL SO CONFUSING

Small wonder the populace is jolly well confused about it all. Then there is the case of camphor. Bought as a toilet preparation it pays a 33 1-3 per cent tax. But for fighting moths it is free.

Ordinary mouse and rat traps are taxable, but vermin traps of types used in farms or warehouses are not. A shoe brush is tax free, but a clothes brush is a toilet article and as such pays the top tax.

In the shoe department things are in a decided jumble. Men's shoes, except those used by quarrymen having 60 hobnails, are taxable. But girls' shoes up to size three with heels no higher than one and one-quarter inches are tax free.

ONE BREAK FOR CONSUMER

As the business works out consumers are going to pay from 12 to 23 per cent more for all purchases not specifically exempted. And the retailer is barred from taking a profit from the tax.

Customers get one good break. Raymond Eversheed, chairman of the central price regulation committee, said it would be illegal under the price of goods act for retailers to add the tax of goods in stock on Oct. 31.

U. S. Cash for 4 Maine Airports

Allotment of funds for airports in New Hampshire and Maine was announced today by Howard O. Hunter, acting work projects commissioner.

Manchester, N. H., will receive $231,294 for airport improvements.

Other projects approved were $239,512 for a new airport at Houlton, Me.; $388,529 for the Presque Isle airport, $473,333 for the Bangor airport, and $11,800 for Portland airport.

More than $83,000,000 of WPA funds will be spent for national defense projects throughout the United States.

Czech Ace Bags 27 Nazi Planes, Then Is Killed

LONDON, Oct. 21 (AP)—A Czech ace of the RAF, identified only as Squadron Leader "Joseph F." but credited with a bag of 27 German planes, was killed early this month, it was announced officially today.

He escaped from Prague after the German occupation of March, 1939, and joined the Polish air force before the outbreak of the war. He was credited with shooting down 11 German planes in the brief German-Polish war and later 16 more over France and England. His victims included several bombers with large crews.

U. S. Asked to Share Dutch Indies Defense

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21 (INS)—The British and exiled Netherlands governments have asked assurances that the United States will co-operate in defense of the Netherlands Indies as a condition for the embargo of oil shipments from the Indies to Japan.

A usually reliable source, in disclosing this today, said Britain has offered the United States use of its Singapore base for the conduct of any naval operations the protection of the Indies may require.

A bastion of British seapower in the Far East, Singapore stands at the head of the Straits of Malacca, athwart the sea route to conquest of Java, Sumatra, Borneo and New Guinea, the fabulously rich islands from which the Dutch provide the world with rubber, tin, quinine and oil.

CONVEYED TO HULL

The source said the request for American aid and offer of Singapore's use in protecting the islands were conveyed to Secretary of State Hull by British Ambassador Lord Lothian in conversations suspended last week when Lothian went to London by clipper plane.

This government's reluctance to give the precise assurances sought by Britain, he added, accounted for Lothian's summons home and the simultaneous recall of American Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy to Washington for consultations to discover whether a compromise agreement can be reached.

The State Department refused comment on the reported request for American aid. A spokesman said the position stood the same as it was when Hull told a press conference last week that his talks with Lothian produced "no requests, no suggestions and no decisions."

BRITISH BUY SUPPLY

A week or so before President Roosevelt clamped on the American embargo, he said, Britain closed contracts with the British and American companies in the Indies for their entire output of high octane gasoline.

Until now, he added, however, Britain has deferred execution of the contracts, with a result that the Indies are supplying Japan the needs she can no longer fill here.

A Japanese trade mission has been in conference with the Indies' colonial administration in Batavia, meantime, seeking an oil agreement.

RAF RAINS DEATH ON BERLIN

BERLIN, Oct. 21 (AP)—An apartment building in west Berlin was destroyed and numerous civilians were killed and injured in last night's British raid on the German capital, DNB, German news agency, reported today.

The news agency said the British dropped four explosive bombs on the city in addition to a shower of incendiaries.

Heavy anti-aircraft fire was heard in some sections of Berlin, especially in the southern part, and Nazis reported ground batteries shot down one British plane on the way to the capital and another in the city.

German warplanes, meanwhile, continued to pound Britain with 600 tons of bombs dumped in one 24-hour period alone over the week end, according to DNB, official News Agency. The agency reported hits on troop barracks on London's outskirts and on warehouses, while the Handley Page airplane factory, waterworks and rail stations were hit.

An intensified U-boat campaign, the high command reported today, was responsible for destruction of a British auxiliary cruiser of more than 10,000 tons and of two British convoys. In the latter attack, the high command said, two submarines participated.

Must Carry War To Foe, British View

LONDON, Oct. 21 (AP)—"We have to carry this fight into the enemy's fields," A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, declared today in a speech warning against acceptance of a stalemate.

"We are daily convoying our ships, our troops and our supplies to theaters of war in which the victory will be driven home," Alexander continued.

Move Upon Greece Seen in Duce's Trip

ROME, Oct. 21 (INS)—Extremely interesting events of both a political and military nature may be expected to occur this week, well-informed quarters said today.

Premier Mussolini is expected to arrive in Fiume by air during the day for an inspection of Italian troops on the eastern frontier facing Yugoslavia.

In view of Il Duce's unexpected trip, neutral observers here believed developments would warrant keen watching from tonight until Sunday, which will be the anniversary of the Fascist march on Rome.

Direct action on a small scale against Greece was seen as a possibility. It was thought Italian forces might occupy a portion of Greek mainland or a Greek island as a "concrete example" to the Athens government of what will happen if Greece continues to permit the British navy to use its ports as bases.

Budapest reports Saturday said the Axis powers had delivered a final warning to Greece and Turkey to renounce their ties with Britain or face the consequences. —Editor's Note.

It also was thought Italy might resort to a military feint in Greece in the hope of splitting up the British Mediterranean fleet between Egyptian and Aegan waters. This would relieve pressure on the Italian forces along the Mediterranean coast of North Africa which have been subjected to heavy British naval bombardment.

Any Italian action against Greece is likely to be justified on the grounds of alleged proof that the Greek government is subservient to Great Britain.

Axis Coup in Balkans Looms, Says Berlin

BERLIN, Oct. 21 (INS)—Intense diplomatic activity was evident today as informed quarters in Berlin expressed belief the Axis powers are laying the ground-work for a new "political surprise."

The next Italo-German move, it was stated, will be designed to show the world that the "new order" in Europe is "rapidly becoming a reality despite British and American counter-efforts."

German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop was absent from Berlin, but it was not known whether current rumors that he will visit Moscow, possibly with Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano, were based on fact.

At the same time, German circles contended the Balkan nations are now coming ever closer to the Axis powers.

BRITISH EDITOR DIES

LONDON, Oct. 21 (AP)—The death of T. Cox Meech, 79, journalist, author and barrister, at Dorchester was reported today. He had been editor of the Ayrshire Post, the Lancaster Daily Post and the Northern Echo and London editor of the Westminster Press.

RAF AIMS BOMBS AT IL DUCE?

ROME, Oct. 21 (INS)—Official disclosure that Premier Mussolini is inspecting Italian troops in the eastern border district was made by the Rome radio today.

This announcement revealed the startling fact that Mussolini may not have been far from the area which was the object of a widespread British aerial attack last night.

Disclosure that Mussolini apparently was in the general vicinity of the British raids led to the belief that the RAF may have received advance secret information of his trip, and may have been attempting to bomb him.

Italian officials admitted the British raid "probably was connected with the presence of Mussolini in northern Italy."

It was also admitted that six towns in northern Italy had been attacked by the British raiders. Four of them were admitted to be in the general vicinity of Milan, where Mussolini arrived to start his inspection trip. The authorities refused to reveal location of the other two places.

AN OPEN LETTER

TO

THE RIGHT HONORABLE MR. WINSTON CHURCHILL

SIR:

The American people are stirred with admiration for the heroic stand being made by the British people under your able leadership.

Over-burdened by your duties and cares, a situation of great importance has no doubt escaped your attention, as it has escaped the attention of most of us who are not medically educated.

American medical experts recently returned from a tour of inspection in France report that the stage is now set for the vast spreading of epidemic diseases which may kill multitudes of French men, women, and especially children this winter.

It is apparently not possible to send food to the French, and this is not a plea to do so, but the effects of food shortage might be considerably mitigated. Has it not been brought to your attention that epidemic diseases flourish amid underfed and under-heated populations, especially where millions of refugees have been crowded into close and unsanitary quarters? In such conditions disease is more devastating than battle. I am sure that this has not been brought before you, or you would not let it be said that you were not willing that the necessary navicerts be issued to permit of sending serums, vaccines, and drugs to unoccupied France.

In no sense could purely medical supplies be of aid to your enemy, even if he took some of them, which I am assured is most unlikely, if only because he does not need them.

Aiding a race to survive is not at all the same as helping a government. The French race, in spite of the decay of its government and some of its institutions, still retains the potentiality of recovery. It can again give us Pasteurs, Curies, Balzacs, Descartes, Lavoisiers. To keep alive the great human strain which inhabits France is as important to the world as it is to France. No doubt they must suffer, but with modern medical aids we may be able to keep many alive who would otherwise succumb.

This humble letter is to make known to you that it is still possible to help prevent the predicted holocaust without weakening your system of defense. Those of us who still admire, not the French nation, but the French race, believe we owe it to ourselves as well as to the French to call this situation to your attention. At least it shall not be said that we do not care.

In the belief that you will be glad that this matter has been presented for your humanitarian consideration.

Faithfully yours,

JAMES WOOD JOHNSON,

Formerly President
the American Volunteer Ambulance Corps in France
784 Park Avenue, New York City

P. S.—I believe that I am not alone in this thought.

sons were reported killed and one injured. In Alessandria province three building were damaged. Fires were started in a wood around a parish, quickly spreading to nearby homes in the village of Borgio Verezzi near Savona.

The last previous British raid on Italy was the night of Sept. 5-6 when Turin was bombed.

ITALIANS MAKE CLAIMS

The Italian high command claimed Italian bombers who raided a British base at Perim Thursday apparently sank two British warships among light fleet units stationed there.

It also told of continued air raiding by both sides in the battle of North and East Africa. Clashes between advance patrols also were reported and the high command communique said a British mechanized column was forced back by an Italian patrol on the Eritrean frontier.

Berlin reported several waves of British planes in the vicinity of the German capital during the night, sending Berlin residents to shelters for the first time in five nights.

The blasting of the channel ports where invasion threats continued to lurk in prolonged mild weather and reports of Nazi activity, started shortly after dusk last night.

Crowds along the English shore ignored the danger to peer through the misty evening at the explosion flashes across the strait of Dover.

BIG GUNS IN DUEL

Observers said the brilliant flashes and loud explosions indicated that possibly British coastal batteries and warships in the channel joined in the bombardment.

Earlier in the day British and German gunners fought one of the heaviest gun duels of the battle of Britain across the strait.

The Press Association said the unbroken rumble of terrific explosions rolled up and down the channel like thunder in the night attack.

Dishes rattled in cupboards and the ground trembled underfoot. The scene on the French coast was lit by flares dropped by British bombers and by the star-like bursts of anti-aircraft fire.

Earlier, the Admiralty announced that British fliers penetrated north of the Arctic Circle for an attack on a German seaplane base at Tromsoe, Norway.

Britain Raked Again by Bombs

fell on the capital just before the shrieked the first time and the throb of the invaders' motors was heard during the second alert.

The all clear signal announced the end of the second raid about mid-afternoon.

In the first raid, the Germans again sent over fast, single-engined planes to run the British anti-aircraft fire in one's and two's.

LIVERPOOL RAIDED

At times, the barrage was a heavy as during some of the biggest night raids. British batteries thundered along the Thames estuary, trying to pick off invading planes lodging low to take cover among clouds on that aerial highway to London.

Liverpool, Britain's chief west coast port, also was a target of the daylight raiders.

Ten persons were injured and one worker was believed killed in a bombardment of a northwest town. Five workers were killed in a south coast town when a twin-engined Nazi bomber unloaded five bombs before fleeing from a British fighter.

Bombs struck also on a large residential estate near a public park in an outlying London area. One house was destroyed and three persons were injured.

CASUALTIES FEWER

Fighter planes and anti-aircraft fire chased away the first Nazi plane which struck at Liverpool during the morning, British reported. Other planes were seen in the northeast and near Midlands towns.

Britain counted her bombing casualties as less than usual despite night-long attacks.

London and the Midlands were the No. 1 and 2 targets of the dusk to dawn attack, although raiders also struck at the Liverpool area, Wales and southwestern England.

The air ministry said "the number of casualties reported from all these areas is not large," and observers in the British capital said the 4th consecutive overnight attack there seemed "comparatively light."

NO PATTERN TO RAIDS

The German bombers began their attack early last night, quickly following up daylight raids during which five alarms were sounded in London, driving church crowds and autumn strollers from the streets. There was a short lull after midnight, but the bombers came back again until shortly before dawn.

There was no pattern to the night raids. Some planes loosed bombs from high over London. Others dived through the low clouds toward their targets. They came at the city from all directions and struck singly rather than in large groups.

One plane was shot down in flames in a London street. The air ministry reported eight others destroyed during the day and night, and three British planes lost.

A communique reported "some killed and injured" in the London area where "damage was done to buildings including many dwellings."

Holland House, Noted British Mansion Bombed

LONDON, Oct. 21 (AP)—Holland House, famous 17th century mansion in eKnsington, noted as the rallying place of the Whigs under Charles James Fox in the 18th century, was damaged during a recent air raid. Publication of this fact was permitted today.

Italy's Bombings Aim to Win India

ROME, Oct. 21 (AP)—Some official Italian news agency said today a forthcoming campaign aimed behind Saturday's Italian bombing of Bahrein island in the Persian gulf was the most important [illegible] and Britain's [illegible] to India.

The high command said Italian planes flew 2,000 miles to bomb the British oil center in the Gulf of Persia, setting enormous fires with hits in pier, three tankers and tanks.

The Bahrein Petroleum Co. is described as a British firm registered in Canada and partly owned by Standard Oil of California and the Texas Corp.

The British and American-owned oil wells in the mainland of Saudi Arabia were bombed.

might talk in Baltimore, since then. Early said, Flynn and others of the national committee had urged him to follow a tradition begun in 1932 of making campaign addresses at the Brooklyn Academy of Music.

"They are looking into that," the secretary said, "and I think the President will do what they ask him to on that."

Frank Kelly, Brooklyn Democratic leader, was on Mr. Roosevelt's engagement list today and was expected to discuss the possibilities of an address in Brooklyn.

NO N. E. TRIP LIKELY

The President is preparing the first of his addresses to be delivered Wednesday night in Philadelphia's convention hall.

Early said he did not see how the President could find time to go into New England before the election and indicated there was no chance he would go farther West than Cleveland, where he will speak on Nov. 2.

The reasons that have kept the Chief Executive relatively close to the national capital in the last few months, Early said, are as compelling today as they were when Mr. Roosevelt announced he did not wish to get farther than an overnight trip from Washington.

"For example," Early said, "Saturday while the President was at Hyde Park, a neutral country was invaded, oil wells owned by Americans were bombed and 400 Americans were on the ground."

He was referring to the bombing of American-owned oil refineries on Bahrein Island in the Persian gulf by Italian planes.

WAR MAY VOID PLANS

At a matter of fact, Early said, all the chief executive's campaign plans, or any part of them, are subject to cancellation should the world situation suddenly become more critical.

Radio time, Early reported, has been reserved by the Democratic committee for 9:15 to 10 p. m. Oct. 23, when Mr. Roosevelt speaks in Philadelphia; 10 to 11 p. m., Oct. 28, when he talks at a political rally in Madison Square Garden, New York; 10:15 to 11 p. m., Oct. 30, for the address, probably in Brooklyn; 9 to 10 p. m., Nov. 2, for the Cleveland speech; and 10 to 12 p. m. Nov. 4.

On the latter date, Democrats will present a battery of speakers in the two hours. How long or at what time Mr. Roosevelt will participate in the program has not been determined.

Canada's No. 1 Family F. D.'s Week-End Guests

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Oct. 21—Here for the weekend to entertain the Governor General of Canada and his entourage, President Roosevelt heard from the Episcopalian pulpit of his home town a ringing indictment of the aggressions of dictator powers.

The President, his mother and Princess Alice, wife of the Dominion's new titular head, listened attentively from the Roosevelt family pew of St. James Church to these words from the Rev. Julius W. Atwood, retired bishop of Arizona:

"Any nation or nations that seek domination of the world or seek to destroy the Christian world, that nation or nations surely will be called before the judgment seat of God and hear: 'Thou has been weighed in the balance and found wanting.'"

The Earl of Athlone, Canadian governor general, remained away from church because of a bad cold. Princess Alice and their daughter, Lady May Abel Smith, however, accompanied the President and Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt to the Hyde Park services. The Hon. Ariel Baird, lady-in-waiting, and Sir Shuldham Redfern, secretary, also were present. The church was filled and a sizeable crowd waited outside to catch a glimpse of the notables.

The Rev. Frank R. Wilson relinquished his pulpit to Bishop Atwood. One of the lessons read by the bishop was the 102d Psalm, which reads in part:

"Mine enemies reproach me all the day long; and they that are mad upon me are sworn against me."

After church, the President returned to his family home to preside at a luncheon for the Canadian First Family. Present also were the Graand Dutchess Charlotte of Luxembourg and her consort, Prince Felix, and Huges Le Galais, Luxembourg charge d'affaires, and Mme. Le Galais. The ruler of the tiny conquered principality and her family are now living at the Long Island estate of Joseph E Davies, assistant to the secretary of state and former ambassador to Belgium and Luxembourg.

The Earl of Athlone and Princess Alice remained overnight at Hyde Park house and returned to Quebec today. This was the first meeting between the President and the Canadian governor-general, but it was emphasized by White House aides that the visit was strictly social and had no bearing on mutual defense problems of the United States and the Dominion.

Researchists Fight To Defeat Cancer

By G. B. LAL
International News Service Science Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 21 (INS)—Scientific research, discovery and invention by their latest contributions have significantly increased the chances of the prevention and successful treatment of cancer, a comprehensive survey revealed today.

The American College of Surgeons has a record now of more than 30,000 cases of patients cured of various types of cancer. This is the result of increased scientific knowledge and medical skill, supported by the education of the public which ensures earlier diagnosis.

It is not the result of any specific cure for the malady which in its fundmental characteristics still baffles scientific conquest.

It is definitely established that cancer is not an infectious disease in the ordinary sense. It is the result of the change of good cells of the body into useless cells which keep on growing wildly.

To understand the cause of cancer one must know how normal cells of the body are transformed into cancer cells.

RESEARCH MADE

In some of America's foremost medical research laboratories investigations are being made to determine how cancer is produced by chemical substances, virus, upsetting of the endocrine glands which produce hormones, ultra-violet rays and other physical agencies.

The most important chemical key to cancer has been found through the study of chemical substances known as the hydrocarbon compounds. Such substances can be prepared in the laboratory from coal tar, but also from some of the materials present in the healthy human body.

Scientists like Prof. Louis Fieser of Harvard have changed one of the bile acids, normally present in the human body, into a powerful cancer-causing material.

Now these scientists are endeavoring to find whether such a change of a useful material into a cancer-producing substance ever occurs.

Dr. Leo Loeb and other scientists have found that an upsetting of the right proportion of the hormones in the body favors the growth of cancer in certain parts of the body.

The hormones are the powerful chemical substances which have much to do with the growth and function of the body. The disorderly production of sex hormones and hormone of the adrenal cortex, a gland attached to the kidney are particularly involved in cancer, it is believed.

PRODUCES CANCER

These hormones are chemically related to a material, cholesterol, which under the rays of the sun or of ultraviolet lamps can produce vitamin D.

From this clue it has been suspected that ultra-violet rays, present in sunshine, when applied to the skin for a long time might change the normal body cholesterol into cancer-causing materials.

Dr. Peyton Rous of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research is investigating the virus theory of cancer, of which he is the chief exponent.

Virus, smaller than a germ, can cause infectious diseases. In certain animal cancers, a virus has been found. This virus can produce cancer in laboratory animals.

GIRL, 5, HAS 19TH BROKEN BONE

DARIEN, Ct., Oct. 21 (AP)—Five-year-old Alberta Lee's bones have been fractured so often that she jokingly warns her mama, "you can't spank me, I break!"

Alberta, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Albert Lee, today has her right leg in a plaster cast for treatment of the 19th broken bone her brittle little body has sustained.

The child suffers from a rare disease caused by a lack of calcium in her bone structure. The doctors call it osteogenesis imperfecta.

Mrs. Lee says that a month after Alberta was born she noticed something strange about the baby's legs. Physicians discovered that both were broken. Since then Alberta has broken her legs 12 times, her arms four times and her collarbone once.

The leg now encased in the cast was broken recently when the child twisted in her sleep.

Beyond being a little wistful because she can't "go out and play with the other kids," Alberta is cheerful and continually talks of getting better. Her physician says he is confident of her eventual recovery.

Alberta has a sister and a brother, Nancy, nine, and Robert, seven months, who are in perfect health. A fourth cousin, however, was afflicted with the same malady in a more serious form and died a few years ago at 15.

school board for quarters in the wanted to know who was paying. Paul Jones school, but they

CITY HOSPITAL DECLINES

"We explained that the government would pay after we got our budget approved, but they decided we couldn't have the quarters.

"The trustees of Boston City Hospital turned us down on the same grounds when we asked for an office on the second floor of the old East Boston Relief Hospital which is vacant.

"The rules we received said if we couldn't get quarters in a public building we'd have to find an appropriate office by getting bids from at least three private persons.

"Well we couldn't find three places—nor even one—that had appropriate quarters and wanted to bid for us."

CARDS UNNUMBERED

Rosa said he couldn't guess what he'd do next, but that the judge and he would like to get going and would appreciate it if some one would donate quarters.

Draft board officers for Districts 14, 15, 16, 24, 28, 29, 33, 34 and 36 in Boston may have had similar troubles, election officials guessed.

Cards for all the registrants in these districts, which include Jamaica Plain, Roxbury, Dorchester, Mattapan, Hyde Park, Readville, Roslindale and West Roxbury were unnumbered and the commission said it had no idea when the draft officials would come to City Hall and claim them.

Falmouth, Nantucket, Somerset and Holyoke were the only communities that had forwarded their local lists of registrants' serial numbers to state headquarters.

MANY LISTS MISSING

Without these lists, the state officers pointed out, they are helpless to proceed with the draft program.

Lists have to be forwarded to Washington and registered with national authorities before the national lottery can be held.

These lists and the 169 other missing local area lists throughout the state must also be received at state headquarters, checked and returned to each area before registrants can find out their serial numbers.

Frederic E. Dowling of the Boston Election Commission registered hearty protest this afternoon at the failure of Boston boards to start functioning.

He said persons working on ships at sea and others who had valid reasons for not having registered last Wednesday would be penalized as delinquents if the situation continues even though they might not be at fault.

The law says that a man who failed to register must do so within five days of having returned to the country.

"These seamen can't find anyone to register them but the election commission, apparently," said Dowling. "What are they going to do?"

PRIEST EXPLAINS DELAY

One of those who appeared at City Hall was the Rev. Matthew Leo Nestor, 30, member of the Passionist Order, who explained that he was expecting appointment as an army chaplain, but thought he had better register anyhow.

Stationed at Jamaica, L. I., Fr. Nestor is a native of Jamaica Plain.

"I'm in perfect physical condition," he told election commission officials. "I'm anxious for active duty. My name is on the list for military chaplain, but I had some doubt today whether I should have registered, too. I'd rather be registered than have any technicality defer my appointment to service."

While one of two ministers who refused to register for selective service changed his mind, the Rev. Keith Coldren Kanaga, 25, and assistant pastor of the Mt. Vernon Congregational Church, today declared he was prepared to accept the consequences of his refusal. He has been indicted.

Widow, 74, Fined As Tipsy Driver, Gives Bomb Alibi

LONDON, Oct. 21 (AP)—A 74 year-old widow, Mrs. Amelia Graham, was fined 20 pounds (about $80) and costs in a Hendon court today on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Her defense was that she drank whisky on her doctor's advice because of air raid shock—a tablespoonful every four hours.

U. S. to Build 1000 Houses in Hartford

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21 (AP)—The national defense advisory commission announced today the U. S. Housing Authority would construct 1000 dwellings in Hartford, Ct., a center of airplane engine and propeller manufacturing, to be used by defense workers in lower income groups.

Fitchburg Priest Found Dead in Bed

FITCHBURG, Oct. 21 (AP)—Rev. Joseph E. La Rochelle, 56, pastor of the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church, was found dead in bed today. Death was due to natural causes. Before coming to Fitchburg he served in Winchendon, Holyoke, Worcester, Gardner, Chicopee, North Adams and Ludlow, Vt.

8 Indicted in N. Y. In Draft Drive

NEW YORK, Oct. 21 (AP)—Eight students of the Union Theological Seminary and two members of the Young Peoples Socialist League were indicted today by a federal grand jury for refusing to register for the draft.

The students were in court when the indictment was handed up and immediately pleaded guilty. Released on their own recognizance pending sentencing Nov. 6, they were:

William Lovell, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; George Houser, Denver; Howard Spragg, Malden, Mass.; Richard J. Wichlei, Binghamton, N. Y.; Donald Benedict, Adrian, Mich.; Meridith Dallas, Grosse Pointe, Mich.; Davis Dellinger, Wakefield, Mass., and Joseph Bevilacqua, Buffalo, N. Y.

One Pastor Still Fights Draft, Other Is Problem

One of Boston's two ministers who refused to register for the draft had changed his mind today and the other insisted he would not retract, but regardless, both must face federal court, it was learned.

Then indictment by the federal grand jury still stands and there may be a number of others indicted as well according to information at the federal building.

U. S. Atty. Edmund J. Brandon, in conference with his assistant, Henry M. Leen, and G-men, declined to discuss the subject of those who evade the draft, but made it clear their program of prosecution is well under way.

The Rev. Harry Howard Krueger, 24, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Boston, who said that he was now willing to register, even though he is still a conscientious objector, meanwhile faced a problem.

MAY NOT BE LISTED

Even if he does appear for registration at Local Board 18, proper place for him to report, he may not be registered. Under the chairmanship of Roland M. Baker, former postmaster, this board was waiting for a ruling in the Rev. Mr. Krueners case.

U. S. Atty. Brandon said it wasn't his province to give such a ruling. The state draft headquarters had given none. Local Board 18 had reached no decision late in the day.

His fellow objector, the Rev. Keith Goldren Kanaga, 25, assistant pastor of the Mt. Vernon Congregational Church, will not register on any grounds, he insisted.

Furthermore, he said, he has been offered a post at the First Congregational Church in Monlovi, Wis., in case the members of his Boston church discharge him when they meet tonight to consider his case.

IN SOLDIER'S POST

"I have received this call to fill the place of a minister who enlisted," the Rev. Mr. Kanaga asserted.

"My action has cost my wife her job; I have been indicted by the federal grand jury, and I don't know what will happen next, but I appreciate the possible consequences of my act and I am prepared to accept them."

The Rev. Carl Heath Kopf, minister of the church, when asked concerning the position of the church on his assistant's stand, said:

"The church has taken no action on the subject of Mr. Kanaga, and it may or may not take action later, depending on the will of the members."

BRIDE LOSES JOB

The Rev. Mr. Kanaga's bride, employed by a Back Bay physician since her husband was graduated from theological school, was discharged Friday night, the young minister said today.

They live in an apartment in Beacon st. which they have been paying for by pooling their small salaries.

"She was discharged entirely because of my attitude about war, but I am still opposed to any steps leading up to war and she feels as I do," the Rev. Mr. Kanaga declared.

Democrats Organize To Fight Third Term

President Roosevelt's third term ambitions were dealt a stern blow today with organization of the Democratic Anti-Third Term League, a state wide group of Democrats pledged to defeat Roosevelt and Wallace.

The Democratic group, who made it plain they were otherwise supporting the entire Democratic state ticket, issued an invitation to join to "all Democrats who are opposed to a dictator and un-American tactics."

Former Mayor James E. Hagan of Somerville, executive secretary of the organization, announced the league would open headquarters today at Hotel Bellevue, also the stronghold of the Democratic state committee.

PROMINENT DEMOCRATS

Outstanding Democrats on the executive committee include: Judge Cornelius J. Moynihan of Lowell, chairman; Leo F. Daley of Andover, former Harvard football star, treasurer; Judge Patrick J. Duane of Waltham, Atty. Maurice D. R. Collins of Springfield, John J. Maguire of Watertown, former state commander of the American Legion; James F. Brennan of North Attleboro, selectman and delegate to the Democratic national convention; John Corbett Donohue, assistant district attorney of Middlesex county, and Hugh L. Coleman of Great Barrington.

"Nomination of President Roosevelt at Chicago was a definite threat to American institutions," former Mayor Hagan declared in a formal statement.

"Many traditions of our government are as important as the written laws. A group which would scrap an important tradition of government will as easily violate the written law.

"Perhaps the time has come when democracy as we know it in this country is outmoded. Perhaps we are definitely headed toward some sort of personal government here in America, accomplished by the self-perpetuation in power of one group.

HITS 'INDISPENSIBLE MAN'

"Perhaps among our millions of citizens there is only one man capable of directing the government of these millions, even though he said that he did not want the job any longer. Perhaps here in the only free country left untouched by the threat of totalitarianism the indispensable man has been found in this year of 1940 after all the experience of generations. We cannot subscribe to such beliefs."

Bay State Sets U. C. C. Record

Massachusetts leads all the industrial states of the nation in the pdompt payment of unsmployment compensation benefits, it was revealed today in a quarterly report of the State Advisory Council on Unemployment Compensation.

The report, made by Morris B. Lambie, state chairman, to Gov. Saltonstall, declared that 99 per cent of unemployment benefits are paid when due.

The report also declared:

"The placement activities in the Massachusetts Division of Unemployment Compensation continue to improve from month to month with private placements for the months of July, August and September, 1940, totalling 11,282. This represents an increase of approximately 60 per cent over the same months in 1939."

Kennedy's Son Aids F. D. Rally

Democratic headquarters here announced today that Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr., son of the ambassador to Great Britain, will preside over a Roosevelt Youth Day rally conducted by the Young Democrats of Massachusetts at Faneuil Hall Wednesday evening.

Highlight of the rally program, which will be open to the public, will be reception of a nation-wide broadcast of President Roosevelt's address. Thomas B. Shea, president of the Young Democrats, also will speak.

This evening, young Kennedy and John Roosevelt, youngest son of the President, will give campaign addresses over station WNAC and the Yankee Network at 7:45 o'clock.

If you are used to paying more for this treatment then you will be happy to know that you can save SO much and still get as good if not a better treatment at the ALQUIST RECONDITIONING SALON. The lowest priced "SLIM-atorium" in the city. Controlled Therma Ray Heat 50c extra and individual exercise if desired. The Alquist Reconditioning Salon is at 177 Tremont St., next to Tremont Theatre. Call Devonshire 7959, open evenings.

These Warm Bath Robes Are Just What the Kiddies Need on Cold Mornings

And so cute looking, too. You'll simply fall in love with these Children's bath robes at Grants for only 79c. Warm, soft, and as comfortable as can be—the kiddies will want to stay in them all morning. They're of robe cloth in plain or Jacquard fabrics and come in red or blue. In sizes 2 to 6 they're 79c —and in larger sizes, 8-12 they're $1—but a BUY at any price. Better dash in before they are all gone and get the pick of the lot. Children's dept. rear of main floor at W. T. GRANT CO. 395 Washington Street.

Thousands in Rush To View New Cars

Shipments of automobiles poured into Boston today as thousands of buying motorists thronged showrooms for a peek at the glittering 1941 models.

The 1941 showing will continue all week, through Saturday, throughout the metropolitan area.

Dealers reported a rapid upswing in business following a week-end which saw whole families trying out the new models, turned out in sufficient numbers despite the nation's full-speed ahead defense program.

Showrooms will be open through out the day for non-working members of the family, while father will get ample time for his inspection before the 9 30 p. m. closing time

In addition to the advance in sales on new models, quantity buying also was reported in used cars

Jacques Renard Bows At Versailles Tonight

By SAM BERENSON

That capable Pied Piper, Jacques Renard, tucks his chins under his violin and slides off the lid on his slick new band which bows in tonight at the coming-out party of the new "Versailles . . . and this Warrenton st. spot could hardly have selected a more popular baton-swisher than Jacques . . . who gives up a summer of sweet birdie golf to engage in sweet birdie music . . . a grand show all around, with a particularly warm welcome to the returning maestro.

With the accent on lovely gals, the Lou Walters production at the Latin Quarter swings into a colorful and breath-taking week . . . in addition, the Quarter's spotlight spins from one starry entertainer to another; the delightful dancing team of Peggy & Morro; man-about-town Harry Spear; and soprty Janet Carroll . . . the Six Flying Antaleks complete a gala revue . . . for the dance set, the rhythms of Tony Bruno and Joe Candullo .

And locally the Beachcomber serves up an exceptionally tempting entertainment dish in the Six La Comparsa Dancers . . . this sextet reaches town with a brilliant record in its wake, an unsurpassed troupe in Conga Dancing that will be warmly welcomed by patrons hereat . . . the tune-spinning of the Nye Mayhew and Vincent Bragale bands for the dance-minded . . Joe Rines and his orchestra open at the Providence Biltmore on the 28th of Oct. . . . featured with the band will be Rex Irving, John Ryan and Lorraine O'Day . . . Nice goings on likewise in Providence at the Ruby Foo-Tom Maren Beachcomber whose success has the town talking . . For a gayer evening right back in town, we must make mention of the Blue Room at the Westminister . . . always a quick-tempo'd floor offering . . . top-billing goes to Ted Milford, a very clever lad who should be resoundingly heard from ere long . . . A line of applause to the capable baton waving of Lew Conrad over at Steuben's Vienna room.

A brilliant revue at the Cocoanut Grove . . featured are the Dorn Brothers and Mary, Carl Simpson, Elanie & Barry and a line of cuties . . . Micky Alpert's music . . . Nan Blackstone continues to stay at the Melody Lounge . . . Sam Golden publicity seeker for the Hotel Essex reminds us that Halloween is but a week away, and that the Essex is planning an elaborate and funcrammed party . . . and it will be good . . . Tic-Toc show this week one of the best in the town . . . It's 3 floor shows nightly at the Knotty Pine room . . . Joe Wagenbach's Lawrence Hofbrau policy calls for a 2½ Hr. floor show every evening . . . and incidentally these alluring Hofbrau offerings are also presented on Sunday evening .

Little Dixie on upper Mass. ave. will continue to feature the tops in colored entertainment . . . this week's show has many of Harlem's club favorites . . . dancing and a no cover charge policy . . . "I wuz thinkin'...."

by IZZY ORT

Hello folks! I don't mind telling you I feel a bit bashful; this is my first appearance in print, but I'll get over it. How do you like my new photograph?

This is my big chance to be the philosopher I've always wanted to be, and I'm paying for the privilege. You know, while I sit around my Grill at 25 Essex street nights or while I watch the bangtails coming down the stretch at Rockingham or at Narragansett, my think tank is always stirring. That's Izzy Ort; never a dull moment!

I like to figure out what makes the wheels go around and I like to let go with an opinion once in a while. So—every Monday you'll find me talking in this column about most everything. It might be about my new show, for example. If it's good, I'm going to tell you in no uncertain terms; if it isn't, I'm also going to tell you.

If my zombies aren't as potent as I think they are, don't worry. I'll tip you off that I've given orders to put more rum in them. That's the way it is with me—"Call-'Em-as-I-See-'Em" Izzy Ort.

Speaking of zombies reminds me that I have a date tonight for rhumba lessons. I've been watching folks rhumba and conga in my spot for months—I've got a swell conga band—and starting a week from tonight, I'm going to be a South American rug cutter!

Incidentally, any time you agree or disagree with me, write to me and tell me, or better still, drop in to my El Tropico Room on Essex street and unload your mind. We'll get along well. See you soon. advt

The RECORD-AMERICAN Will Pay

$15,000.00 in CASH PRIZES

A NEW AND DIFFERENT CONTEST..

The GAME of CHECK

TODAY BEGINS the Second Week of this great new $15,000.00 Cash Prize Competition—the GAME OF CHECK! TODAY you can start in the contest and head toward a winning of $10,000.00, $2,000.00, $1,000.00 or any other of the long string of prizes that will be and must be won!

CONTEST EDITOR'S CORNER

Now that the time to send in the first week's series is here, I'm receiving queries as to just how entries should be submitted.

It doesn't much matter whether you use telegraph, cable, or carrier-pigeon, or you let Uncle Sam carry the mail—provided we get your entry on time, and it is duly qualified with ten cents in coin. As a matter of fact, there is no reason why you personally can't drop your entry at the office, 5 Winthrop Square, if you happen to be passing by this neighborhood.

The thing to remember is that the six check series of the week must be submitted as a unit.

There is nothing in the rules which prohibits you from signing your name in pencil, crayon, or typing it out. Your name and address must be written legibly so that if that $10,000.00 is to go to you, we at least know where to send it . . . It would be still more of a tragedy if we did not know who you were at all, and that would be the clear result if you neglected to write your name and address on the check sheets.

I can understand why people forget, in the excitement of the moment, to write their names on the bottom of their contest entries. There is nothing we can do about it, except to say that a few grand in Cash is certainly worth a few minutes of Care.

All persons taking part in the contest shall be deemed to be bound by the official Contest rules which are published in the Record and American from time to time as space permits. Copies of the rules may be obtained from the Record-American Contest Editor at any time.

ENTIRE FIRST WEEK'S SERIES AVAILABLE FREE

If you missed getting the First Week's Series of question-cartoons, which appeared in the Record-American last week, that needn't prevent you from getting started in the contest—there's a coupon in the lower right corner that brings you the First Week's Series FREE. Send it today, and meanwhile, see if you can CHECK the right answers to the question cartoons in Check Sheet No. 7 at the left.

SIX CHECK SHEETS TO EACH SERIES

This contest is divided into weekly series—with six Check Sheets appearing from Monday through Saturday of each week comprising that week's series. Thus, when you've received Check Sheets 1—6 in response to the coupon below, check the answers you consider correct and send in those six Check Sheets, in accordance with the rules, as your First Series.

FIRST PRIZE
SECOND PRIZE
$2,000.00

THIRD PRIZE	$1,000.00
Fourth Prize	$500.00
Fifth Prize	$350.00
Sixth Prize	$250.00
Seventh Prize	$150.00
Eighth Prize	$100.00
Ninth Prize	$100.00
Tenth Prize	$100.00
Ninety Prizes at $5.00 Each	$450.00

★★★★★★★★★★

TODAY'S WINNERS

Questions 7B and 7C which appear in today's check sheet were suggested by William Kozloski of West Ninth St., South Boston, and Leo Simonetti of Cooper St., Boston, each of whom receives a check for $25.00.

Send in Your Question. It May Bring You $25.00 in Cash.

Clip and check Sheet No. 7 at the right. Place a check mark (✓) in the circle following the answer you consider right for each question, and fill in your name and address in the spaces provided.

Tomorrow get Check Sheet No. 8 in the Record or American, and on Wednesday get Check Sheet No. 9, etc. By Saturday you will have all six Check Sheets of the Second Series, from No. 7 through No. 12. They should then be sent in any time before midnight of Saturday, Nov. 2.

SEND A DIME WITH EACH SERIES

To qualify your answers for a prize, the rules require a remittance of 10 cents in coin with each weekly series of six Check Sheets. In return for remittance, contestants will receive a fascinating Quiz Booklet at the conclusion of the contest.

Start now! Get after that $10,000.00 First Prize!

EVENING AMERICAN, MONDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1940

Russia Given Our Defense Material!

By CARLISLE BARGERON
(Assigned by Republican National Committee)

On October 16, the New York Daily News printed this story:

A shortage of machine tools is the only threat to the completion of the national defense program in the time allotted, William S. Knudson told more than 500 of the nation's leading industrialists, business men and publishers yesterday.

"Everything depends upon the cooperation we can get in making tools," he said.

(Mr. Knudsen is the production member of the National Defense Advisory Committee.)

On October 15, the New York Sun printed this story by the Associated Press from Washington:

Definite progress toward more friendly relations between the United States and Soviet Russia which may play an important role in far-reaching political questions of the future—is being made in almost daily discussions between Constantine Oumansky, the Soviet Ambassador, and State Department officials. • • • After discussions on the subject (trade relations) the Soviet authorities, it was learned, recognized that some of the machine tools for which they had placed orders were necessary in the American defense program and waived their rights, permitting them to be retained here.

IN RETURN THE UNITED STATES RELEASED A LARGE PART OF THE MACHINE TOOLS AND OTHER GOODS NEEDED BY THE SOVIET, SOME OF WHICH WAS ALREADY ON THE DOCKS AWAITING SHIPMENT AND DISCUSSIONS BETWEEN AMBASSADOR OUMANSKY AND STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS ARE NOW CLASSIFYING OTHER GOODS ORDERED HERE AND PERMITTING A GOOD PORTION OF THEM TO BE SHIPPED.

Now, isn't it just simply gorgeous that the bosom friends are parcelling out our precious machine tools so amicably? One for me, one for you. Soviet Russia has a pact with Germany. Both the British and American governments say they expect Stalin to sign one with Japan very shortly.

Bolsheviks in Gilded Cage

But this makes no difference. The New Dealers are so happy that our government is to kiss and make up with Stalin. They WERE as thick as fleas. Our New Deal Intellectuals worshipped at the temple of Moscow for seven years. The Soviet Embassy in Washington was the great gathering place for the "Brilliant Minds." There they gathered night after night, wallowed in caviar and laughed derisively at the Dies Committee.

When Stalin's great army of "humanitarians" went into Finland, however, the New Dealers were embarrassed. They backed away from their friends. Ambassador Oumansky was so lonesome your heart went out to him. It seemed to be the end of a beautiful friendship.

But now they are making up and having a delightful time with our machine tools. One for you, one for me——

One of the outstanding characteristics of the New Deal is that they can't get it out of their collective head that the Communists are "fellow humanitarians," "fellow democrats," "fellow New Dealers,"—that they should work together in the uplift of the world.

Mrs. Roosevelt once stated to an assemblage of 500 newspapermen in almost these exact words:

"Oh no, indeed, I am not a Communist. But I will say this: that the Communists come nearer to seeking the same objectives as we than any other political philosophy."

This writer heard it himself.

Yet the Dies Committee revealed that the former Soviet foreign minister, Litvinoff, laughed loud and heartily over his promise to Mr. Roosevelt that as a condition our our recognizing the Soviet, their debt to us would be paid and they would not engage in propaganda in this country.

The Dies Committee also revealed that a few months before the war broke out, the State department not only approved, but sought to get American shipbuilders to build a super battleship for Russia, "our frien' " —"our great frien' " crotched between two enemies, Hitler and Japan.

Our Dear, Beloved Frien's!

The Polish ambassador in Washington, Mr. Potocki, has told about how he tried to convince Mr. Roosevelt that Stalin would join up with Hitler—but the New Dealers knew better.

It is truly amazing the affinity which the New Dealers have had for the Communists. It isn't that they like Stalin. THAT GREAT MOSCOW IDEA, THAT GREAT MOSCOW PLAN, THAT GREAT PRODUCT OF LENIN AND TROTSKY, FASCINATES THEM.

The New Deal Intellectuals were first prone to defend it as working in Russia. Latterly, their attitude has been that it hasn't worked so well over there because of inefficiency. But, ah, we are efficient.

THIS "IDEA" IS WHAT HAS BEEN GNAWING AT THE SUBSTANCE OF AMERICA! IT IS WHAT IS GNAWING AT IT TODAY!

A VOTE FOR ROOSEVELT IS A VOTE FOR WAR AND CHAOS!

WHO HIT BELOW THE BELT?

(Provided by the Democratic National Committee)

So far in this campaign, Wendell Willkie has called President Roosevelt unscrupulous, a fake, a sham, and a man who fails to tell the truth. These are his own words.

So far in this campaign, President Roosevelt has not uttered a single word reflecting on the character or the personality of Wendell Willkie.

The Republican nominee has sneered at President Roosevelt as a "Groton-Harvard man," and called him an aristocrat.

The Republican nominee has accused the President of going through the "mockery" of seeking to preserve democracy while seeking to destroy it.

The Republican nominee has deliberately exaggerated the figure on unemployment, falsely charged the Administration with failing to provide a single job in private industry, and he has tried to undermine public confidence in the safety of social security and old age pensions.

The Republican nominee falsely charged President Roosevelt with "selling Czecho-Slovakia down the river" when every fact refutes the charge.

The level of candidate Willkie's campaigning was best illustrated in his New York speech when he said about the President:

"His pose and the pose of the New Deal are both fakes, shams, and misrepresentations."

These facts are reviewed to expose the insincerity of the Republicans in their sobbing pleas for clean campaigning. Recently they protested in pious and oily horror at a circular which was prepared by the colored division of the Democratic National Committee.

STATING THE FACTS

This circular mentioned the fact that Wendell Willkie's ancestors came from Germany. It did NOT reflect on the German people. This circular had never been seen or approved by the officers of the National Committee and when a newspaperman brought a copy into headquarters, it was completely disavowed and condemned by Chairman Edward J. Flynn. He defended the Americanism of Wendell Willkie.

Then it was disclosed that the Willkie clubs were circulating a pamphlet far more vile and vicious against President Roosevelt. This pamphlet reflected, not only on the Administration, but on every immigrant who has come to these shores from Europe, whether German, Italian, Scandinavian, or some other racial stock. This pamphlet was being distributed under cover in vast quantities. Its purpose was to inflame racial hatreds.

The Democratic National Committee has conducted a clean campaign and it will swiftly disavow the activities of any over-zealous individual who violates this rule. The Democratic National Committee has always observed this standard.

The Republican National Committee in 1928 conducted the most reprehensible campaign imaginable against Governor Alfred E. Smith when the latter was the Democratic nominee for President. It was a foul blow campaign in which every weapon of religious and racial intolerance was employed.

THE CLEAN MR. MOSES

The dissemination of this literature was traced publicly to Senator H. Moses of New Hampshire, who was in charge of Eastern campaign headquarters for the Republicans. Moses never denied the charge because he couldn't. The evidence was there to confront him.

Many Republicans who now profess horror at such tactics were engaged up to the hilt in the campaign against Governor Smith.

The Democratic National Committee has a vast collection of literature reviling President Roosevelt and his family which has been circulated by anonymous supporters of the Republican ticket. This stuff has never been repudiated by the Republicans.

One circular urged doctors to betray their most sacred relationship with patients by urging charity patients to vote Republican. This circular says:

"In talking to these people you have three strong allies: the close relationship that exists between a doctor and his patient; the obligation that a charity patient naturally feels towards his doctor; the logic." Logic was naturally put last of the three.

If this is clean campaigning, then many worthy people must revise their ethical standards.

For 211th Coast Artillery Today

Goodby

Charles Temple of A Battery, 211th Coast Artillery, leans from window of his railroad car to kiss his mother and Jean Colburn of Medford, his fiance, a fond goodby . . . as he and other members of the anti-aircraft regiment started for Texas from Falmouth today.

On Their Way Now

Moving with military precision from Falmouth to a year's intensive training in Texas, officers and men of Batteries A, B, F, G and H, headquarters battalion and a medical detail, all of the 211th Coast Artillery, anti-aircraft, get underway today . . . and here's a general view of the leavetaking.

B Battery of the 211th Coast Artillery Has Last Breakfast at Camp Falmouth Today . . . and They Were Off to Texas

Farewell

Fix-Up

To get that military neatness you expect of regular Army men, Norman Seavey of Medford shaves closely before he takes off today. He's one of 1450 men and officers going to Texas.

SECRETARY OF THE NAVY KNOX has removed the last doubt in any American's mind that the Administration is deliberately preparing the country for a conflict by creating a psychological atmosphere of war.

In his much-discussed address before graduates of the National Police Academy at Washington, the Secretary uttered these war-baiting phrases:

1. "If a fight is forced upon us we shall be ready."
2. "We are approaching an hour of decision, an hour of test."
3. "God knows whether the test will be on the field of battle or will be a test of will."
4. "We have never lost a war yet." (This was addressed directly to the Axis powers.)
5. "These international brigands whose greatest victory would be the destruction of the United States."

The natural questions that these bloody-shirt phrases—from an official who in matters of defense stands next to the President—arouse are:

1. If a "fight is forced on us" is it certain that WE have not done the "forcing" by the President's and his Cabinet members' continuous insults and challenges to foreign powers?

And ARE we "ready?" (That's what France said—as complacently as Secretary Knox.)

2. Is Congress or the people (or either or neither) to have anything to say about this "hour of decision," this "hour of test"—or is it to be left to the secret cabals of the great indispensable?

3. Why not have the "test" in the good old American way—at the ballot-box?

4. That we have never lost a war is no guarantee that we may not lose one if we deliberately go out of our way to array the whole world against us.

5. To call nations "international brigands" with which we still do business and to which we even sell war materials—Soviet Russia and Japan, for instance—is not conducive to peace.

Those men in high positions in Washington who have been fanning the war-fever here since President Roosevelt's Chicago "quarantine" speech have nothing to lose—NOT EVEN THEIR JOBS.

In a war—to which 81 per cent of the people are opposed, according to a Gallup Poll—the PEOPLE have ALL to lose.

War means IMMEDIATE DICTATORSHIP and ultimate BANKRUPTCY, and maybe REVOLUTION.

The proper business of the Washington Government is to build an impregnable defense and to think of AMERICA FIRST.

A little MORE publicity about secret "agreements" and A GOOD DEAL LESS tongue-wagging and warlike braggadocio would suit the overwhelming majority of our people better.

AN OPTIMISTIC NOTE—one that evokes the image of a better future and a more solid and intelligent society—is more than welcome in these times of anxiety and uncertainty.

Such a note is sounded by the National Emergency Program of the Boy Scouts of America, a broad plan for intensive service and training of our boys and young men.

The Scout motto is "Be Prepared." In our West, Scout activities have been correctly centered on nature lore and human helpfulness. Now the Scouts extend their activities to prepare their function in a nation that faces great problems and grave situations.

The Executive Board of the Scouts says this:

"We are mobilizing American youth for service—as contrasted with the mobilization of youth for purposes of destruction and conquest, as promoted by some European countries."

"The character of a nation may be changed in a single generation through the training of youth."

This has been proved, in a destructive and really anti-social sense, by the youth movements of Germany and Italy.

It is necessary that the spirit, the energy and the devotion of our youth be turned to the works of constructive patriotism, to the establishment and maintenance of a truly creative attitude—toward society, toward nature, toward industry and knowledge.

WOMEN'S CLUBS of Massachusetts have endorsed the movement for a State law compelling the registration and regulation of bicycles.

In their endorsement, club leaders point out that thirty children have been killed on bicycles and hundreds injured since a statute of this kind was suggested to the Legislature a year ago.

Mothers of young cyclists feel that a license system similar to that now applied to automobiles would oblige the children to operate their vehicles more carefully and thus avoid injury.

Mothers also feel that a record of all bicycles would assist police in apprehending thieves and restoring stolen property to owners.

We are inclined to agree.

CLARA W. OVERTON has written a story, "Never Dress to Please Your Husband." The idea is that husband doesn't know anything about what a woman should wear. Clara is probably right about that. But even if the husband is shy on technical knowledge he knows what he likes. Therefore, it might not be a bad idea for a wife to notice what in dress pleases her husband, whether she or some other woman is wearing it. Because, after all, a pleased husband is a nice thing to have around the house.

THE BRITISH Air Ministry once discussed Clark Gable. Because of promised co-operation, this group had final say on casting of a Royal Air Force film. Air ministry decided Gable was not the type to play an RAF officer. They preferred Ronald Colman . . . A German air officer recently bailed out on English soil and floated down wearing a fur coat and carrying a suit case of personal belongings. "I am an anti-Nazi" he told the British. "They gave me a suicide bombing job and I decided I was too young to die just yet" . . . It has been proven Nazi flyers are doped with a variation of hyoscene which eliminates fear during its action. However, this drug also eliminates good sense and flying skill. Hence the advantage is still with the clear-headed members of the RAF.

FOR DRAFTEES on the way to report for duty the night lodging allowance has been fixed at one dollar and fifty cents. You can't get a first rate room in a good hotel for that amount. Perhaps hotels will immediately institute a special dollar and a half rate for all en route-to-report draftees. How about it, hotel men? . . . Largest municipal stadium in the world is what New York may build on its Fair grounds. What was the largest stadium in history? It was the Colosseum at Rome which had a seating capacity of three hundred thousand. Try to match that, Mr. LaGuardia!

DR. J. STANLEY DURKEE is pastor of the Plymouth Congregational Church, Brooklyn, N. Y., Dr. Durkee's pulpit predecessors were Henry Ward Beecher, Lyman Abbott and Newell Dwight Hills. What other church in America can boast of having an equally distinguished number of pastors? . . . Lew Valentine is the Dr. I. Q. of the radio. The I. Q. program was originated and is controlled by Lee Segall, a Houston, Tex., dairyman, who receives a thousand dollars a week royalty for his idea. Mr. Valentine gets about $1500 a week for his part, which is not so bad for a fellow only 30 years of age.

AS GROUNDS for divorce a Western wife said of her husband: "By his arrogance, selfishness and self-opinionated superiority he caused me great suffering and anguish." This complaint has a familiar ring. Have heard husbands described that way many times by wives when the description fitted said wives much better.

-:- MY DAY

HYDE PARK, Oct. 21—My trip home was uneventful. I was glad to be able to fly from Chicago to St. Louis for a few hours Saturday in order to see my young friend, Mayris Cheney, who is dancing there just now, and still get into New York from Chicago in the evening.

I motored up to Hyde Park yesterday morning in order to have the pleasure of meeting the Governor-General of Canada and his wife, who spent the week-end with the President and his mother.

Miss Thompson met me in New York and told me that too many birthday cards had come on Oct. 11 for personal acknowledgement to be possible, and so I am taking this opportunity to thank the many kind people who sent me good wishes on the occasion of my birthday.

THERE ARE two books I read on this trip across the continent that I would like to call to your attention. One of them, called "Guilty Men," is written by a young Englishman whose nom de plume is "Cato." The book has an American introduction which points out why we should have a special interest in it.

As brought out in this book, the important point, to me, about the chronology of the years from 1920 to 1940 is that when individuals and nations begin to fool themselves, they are building up a dangerous future.

You can fool yourself with high ideals and wishful thinking and refuse to face reality and the hard facts of the world in which you live. So many leaders of different groups in these past years have done this in one way or another.

Good intentions seem to have paved the way to one tragic situation after another. It is trite to say it, but the courage to face the real facts, and act upon those facts, is the thing we need most today.

The second book is Hendrik Van Loon's "Invasion." He sent it to me himself, and suggested that I do not read it at night for fear of being kept awake. I did not feel that way about it. It is fanciful, but no more fanciful than actual occurrences have been in many parts of the world.

His estimate of what the people of Vermont would do under certain conditions is most encouraging, because Vermont is no different from the State of Washington, or, for that matter, any State in the Union faced with the same situation.

That does not make the book any less important. The lesson it teaches is that it is not safe to believe, because your immediate surroundings look peaceful, placid and very familiar, that nothing unusual can possibly happen.

NOEL COWARD VICTIM OF ERROR

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, Oct. 21—This is the origin of the over-publicized mystery concerning Noel Coward's war duties: A friend sent him, to his Paris office, a bottle of candied sweets, and Coward couldn't open it. In his office at the time was a high official of the French Air Ministry, who said: "Let me try" . . . "Take the whole thing, and keep it," said Coward, delivering the bottle, "but bring back one piece of candy for me." The official accepted the bottle, and opened the door, to leave. "Now remember," Coward shouted, from his desk, "I want you to bring one back to me" . . . Newspaper men, assembled outside that door, heard only that one line: "Remember, I want you to bring one back to me." They immediately cabled their London offices stories which were captions: "What is Noel Coward's Mission?" . . . "Why Is Noel Coward Giving Orders to the French Air Ministry?"

DRAMA DEPT.: When Garson Kanin left the employ of George Abbott to go to Hollywood he induced Abbott to give his job to Ezra Stone, a young hopeful who had a minor role in one of the Abbott productions . . Stone got the job, and now is Abbott's principal aide. He directed "See My Lawyer," starred in a play, is producing his own show, worked in Hollywood and stars in the Aldrich Family radio serial . . Last week Ezra, who now is 22, opened a new movie theater he bought in Philadelphia. As a token of gratitude, he insisted that the opening picture should be one directed by Garson Kanin. He couldn't get "They Knew What They Wanted"—and so he opened his theater with Kanin's smaller film, "My Favorite Wife."

FASHIONS DEPT.: Inez Robb went to interview Clare Boothe, and found one of Miss Boothe's old friends there . . . "Clare has a new wrap, made of platina fox," the friend told Inez . . . "Platina fox?" gasped Inez. "That's wonderful—owning such rare furs" . . . "It's really very nice," the friend continued. "And it's not as loud as platina foxes usually look" . . . "If I had a platina fox wrap that wasn't loud," Inez confessed, "I'd have it lined with neon lights."

BOOK DEPT.: Thursday night, at the Commodore, a dinner attended by more than 1,000 was held for the benefit of exiled writers. The guest of honor was Lion Feuchtwanger, who arrived here recently after escaping from a concentration camp in France. Seated on the dais were Fannie Hurst, Louis Bromfield, William Saroyan and other noted writers . . . Clifton Fadiman, the toastmaster, started to introduce Saroyan—but the Pulitzer Prize winner's chair was empty. Saroyan had left the dais to purchase some cigarettes outside, saw a bellhop shooting dice, and joined the 15-cent game. He won 30 cents, then heard Fadiman announce: "And now, the distinguished author and playwright, Pulitzer Prize winner, etc." . . . The distinguished author and playwright immediately quit the dice game, ran to his seat and, still puffing, started to read his prepared speech. He started with Page Four!

REALTY DEPT.: Before Jimmy Cromwell began his candidacy for the U. S. Senate in New Jersey, he conferred with Mayor Hague about political backing. Hague discovered that the Cromwell farm in New Jersey extended across the state line, and that a question of legal residence might be raised . . . Cromwell therefore purchased 250 additional acres on the Jersey side and built another house there—and so his official N. J. residence cannot be questioned.

TRAVEL DEPT.: Ralph Ingersoll, the editor, has been writing personal editorials denouncing Hitler and demanding that immediate action be taken to curb the advance of Fascism . . . Ingersoll bought passage on the Clipper to Lisbon last week and now is in Europe . . . "Why did he go to Europe at this time?" one of his reporters was asked . . . "He went to Europe," was the answer, "to declare war personally against Hitler."

BIRTHS: When the Oscar Levant daughter arrived last week, Eddie Cantor wired the parents: "Ha, Ha. That's How WE Started."

MONDAY MORNING MUSINGS: New York cafe society suspects—and probably incorrectly—that it's romance between a very prominent New Dealer and Betsy Cushing (Roosevelt) of Boston . . . The end playing Notre Dame whose name is George Murphy is an Irish-Swede, and Army's tackle, O'Brien, is a half and half of the same.

THE HARVARD UNDERSTUDY-QUARTERBACK, JOE QUINN, who hails from Beverly, is a son of Tom Quinn, chief attorney for the local U. S. Veterans' Bureau—a Harvard grad . . . The football player's grandfather was the famous jurist, Judge Joseph Quinn, who presided at the Lawrence mill strike murder trials.

GEORGE KENEALLY certainly an expert in the "pro" field, thinks the Boston Bears' first-string lineup is the equal of any combination of eleven men in the National Pro League, and with more strength in certain reserve positions, the Sheldon Fairbanks aggregation would fit in the National League in perfect focus . . . The wise-money, incidentally, is ready to wager that Boston will come up with a championship in the first year of the Fairbanks' club existence.

NEW YORK SHELLACKING Milwaukee makes the Boston-Milwaukee game seem a certain Boston victory, and the Bears have improved so tremendously since losing the opener to Columbus that the score is expected to be reversed when the two leaders meet at Columbus.

CAUTION WILL BE USED to protect laborers at Fort Devens, where construction of new barracks is getting underway, against being victimized by phoney agents who collected hundreds of dollars in dues from workers who thought they were signing with unions at Camp Edwards . . . Bette Davis is telling Hollywood, after first informing New York, that the show she enjoyed most—ever—was "Life With Father."

WITH ONE OF THE TWO Russian Ballets (both of which operate under the same management) opening at the Boston Opera House, can it be possible that the local temple of music is not going to be converted into either a garage or a super-market? . . . If the assessors for the city would give the edifice full-standing as a cultural and philanthropic project, thus chopping off the taxes, the Opera House would stay open as an Opera House, it is our guess . . . It may, anyway.

THE LATEST NICKEL-IN-THE-SLOT gadget gives the customers an imitation ack-ack—British slang for anti-aircraft gun—to play with . . . Lights in the form of airplanes slither across a white screen and when a hit is scored the plane changes color to red . . . Kay Lawrence, Rob Ripley's she-Boswell, wonders about the future of "glamor" . . . A veteran glamor-girl, Peggy Hopkins Joyce, was sighted not far from Boston by Miss Lawrence, and here is a running description of La Joyce's makeup: A fox fur jacket over a riding-habit, a pair of dark goggles and a silk bandana on her head; a huge diamond pin and two rings with double-number karats.

IN MENTIONING A FEW BOSTON WOMEN who have made good in the hotel and restaurant field, your reporter was derelict indeed in forgetting Mary Hackett, who operates the roadhouse bearing her name in Duxbury . . . Mary has joined hands with Captain Allistaire MacIntosh, one of the gay bloods of New York, to operate "The Alibi," in Palm Beach, this season . . Miss Hackett ran the place successfully alone last season, and was hostess to Henry Ford and Greta Garbo, among others.

SPEAKING OF GARBO, THERE MAY BE another picture in the works for the screen's female basso profundo . . . It has been a long time since "Nitochka," and if as Jimmie Fidler points out, a Garbo picture is preceded always by a buildup concerning Greta and a romantic boy-friend, let us consider this: A Hollywood fan magazine insists that "Garbo's recent sighs are directed at an Alabama lad—a soda jerker in Schwab's drugstore in Hollywood."

ALL UNKNOWNS IN HAWKS FILM

By Louella O. Parsons

Howard Hawks

ABOARD THE CHIEF, en route to New York, Oct. 21—Howard Hawks planed out of New Mexico over the week-end to start filming "The Outlaw" for Howard Hughes without even so much as a hint as to cast. I would accuse these cagey gentlemen of good showmanship in building up a mystery about the stars in this Billy the Kid opus only I happen to know they're being secretive for a different reason. First, all the top roles will be played by unknowns which Hawks and Hughes have been recruiting for months. The second reason is that they are renaming their proteges.

Howard Hughes believes there is a lot in a good movie name and I am inclined to agree with him. In the meantime while these monikers are being thought up — Howard Hawks, with a second camera unit headed by Art Rosson, will be filming scenes near Socorro where Billy the Kid's ill-fated career hit its peak. Wonder if these new "unknowns" of Howard's will be as successful as Jean Harlow, George Raft and other stars he discovered?

WHO EVER HEARD of a movie Cinderella 80 years old. This miracle woman is named Adeline De Walt Reynolds and honest-to-goodness she's making her screen debut with Hedy Lamarr and Jimmy Stewart in "Come Live With Me," the year of her 80th birthday! What a life this cute little old lady has lived. Married at 16 and widowed at 30 with four children to support, she started a typist school in San Francisco. But while she could eke out a living for her little brood, it worried her that she had so little education. At the age of 66 she enrolled at the University of California and was graduated at 70. The important thing is that she went in for school plays and got the acting bug. Not so long ago she appeared in a little play in Hollywood and it was there Clarence Brown discovered her. Now she's a movie star at an age when most women are thinking "old rockin' chair's got me."

BEFORE I left Hollywood I autographed a picture to Jane Withers, wishing her luck. Well, it looks like that wish is coming true sooner than either of us expected. Darryl Zanuck sends me a wire that my little girl friend is being graduated from B to A pictures and that she's going to have a chance to give Judy Garland a run for her honors in a musical titled "Stringing Along." Milton Sperling will produce Jane's first "big" picture which will give her a chance to sing and dance—and couldn't be happier for Jane because she's such a good little trouper and she's deserved this break so long.

Smart Set Functions

By BETTY ALDEN

THE COMING Harvard-Dartmouth week-end will give the season's debs a perfect example of what a "happy hectic debutante whirl" is all about . . .

Beginning Friday noon with a luncheon for two Milton debs, the girls will dash from one party to another, with quick changes of costumes in between and barely time to catch forty winks from Friday to Monday . . .

Amy Aldis Suter and Anne Cunningham of Milton start the gay festivities with their debut luncheon to be given Friday by Amy's aunt, Mrs. Clarence James Gamble, also of Milton . . . A number of Amy's classmates at Ashley Hall School in Charleston, S. C., are coming on to celebrate her debut and the ensuing week-end festivities . . .

Among them are her roommate, Jacqueline Sumner of Rochester, N. Y., Nancy Hull and Janet Cheney of Pelham Manor, N. Y., Daphne Metcalf, Winter Park, Fla., Marie Anne Phelps of Bronxville and Constance Florian of Chicago . . .

SPREADING THE NEWS about the annual seminar of the Habit Clinic for Child Guidance, which takes place today in the Y. W. C. A. are Mrs. Wilson Inskipp of London, left, and Miss Corita Arche of Weston. Many prominent Bostonians attend the seminar which is devoted to discussions of the problems of young people in a changing world.

Other out of town guests celebrating the double debut will be Helen Stroud and Nancy Dobson of Philadelphia, Mary Lee Longcope of Baltimore, and Frances Barrows of New York . . .

Amy is the daughter of Mr. Philip Suter and Anne's parents are Mr. and Mrs. George C. Cunningham . . .

Friday afternoon, Lee Stowell Cullen steps into the social spotlight at a tea at the Junior League followed by a dinner party for her pourers in the Balinese Room of the Somerset . . . and winding up the day's activities will be the dance which Mrs. George Dabney of Old Tannery Farm, Medfield, is giving for her daughter, Caroline . . .

Football Fans Make Merry

THE SATURDAY NIGHT curfew found football fans still singing Harvard-Army songs and dancing merrily at the post game celebration in the Balinese Room of the Somerset . . . Joining enthusiastically in the fun were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hovey and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cunningham who were entertaining a couple from California . . .

Mrs. Hovey set off her blonde hair with a dashing emerald green high peaked hat, and Mrs. Cunningham wore an unusual little black velvet poke bonnet tied under her chin with velvet ribbons . . . Her dress was of black crepe brightened with heavy pearls and diamond bracelets . . .

The merriment served as a post wedding celebration for Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Brooks, Jr., of Concord and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Francis of Dover, who had come on from the wedding of Betty Brooks and James Ford, brother of Mrs. Francis . . . Getting a big kick out of all the merrymaking was Capt. William Wood, coach of the Army team, who with Mrs. Wood, was guest of honor at a dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. Glenwood Sherrard . . .

John Roosevelts Among Guests

GRIDIRON FANS also packed the Cafe Vendome for post-game dining . . . Mr. and Mrs. John Roosevelt stopped in there before going on to the theater, and were in a party with Mr. and Mrs. George McLanahan (Sally Clark) and Mr. and Mrs. George Noble . . . Anne wore a black crepe dress with triple strand pearl necklace, and a veiled black turban . . . Sally, whose banged coiffure has been replaced by a more simple hair-do, wore a sporty black and red outfit, and Mrs. Noble chose a blue tweed suit with fuchsia accessories . . .

Pageant-Ball Plan Benefit Next Month

Mrs. A. Clark Woodward, general chairman, and Anne Means, associate chairman, are busy planning novelties to make the International Pageant and Ball on Nov. 8 a highly memorable occasion.

The ball is being held for the benefit of International Institute on Beacon st., a Community Fund member organization.

Assisting Mrs. Woodward in handling the many details of the affair are Mrs. Pitt Drew of Boston, chairman of tickets; Mrs. David Rives Sigourney of Brookline and Nahant, decorations; Mrs. Stanley B. Swain, Medfield, and Mrs. Harold T. Stowell, Watertown, foyer attractions and refreshments.

Mrs. Eliot W. Robbins of Brookline is chairman of the Junior committee; Mme. Letitia Brugnani of Winthrop, director of the pageant, Mrs. Llewellyn Frohock, Jr., of Somerville, business executive and chairman of publicity.

Add Glamour to Your Dancing

FOOTPRINT DIAGRAMS SHOW WALTZ STEPS

Soft lights and sweet music—and you dancing the waltz! Nothing could be more glamorous if you know lovely variations, can glide smoothly from one step to another.

But what a different picture if you are at a loss, stumbling whenever your partner changes from one step to the next. The stagline's sure to notice your missteps, put you down as an inexperienced dancer.

See how easily you go from the Forward Waltz to the Open Waltz Step with the aid of our diagrams. Just remember that on the first count of each measure you take an extra long step to give you that graceful dipping motion which makes a waltz so dreamlike.

Send 15c in coins for our booklet, Teach Yourself the Latest Dance Steps, to Boston Evening American Home Institute, 109 West 19th st., New York, N. Y.

The Annice Brink BEAUTY REVIEW

BOSTON AMERICAN
NEW ENGLAND'S GREATEST EVENING NEWSPAPER

EVENING AMERICAN, MONDAY, OCTOBER 21, 1940

Stars Divulge "Personality" Make up Tricks

NOBODY WANTS a perfect face! In Hollywood, they're striving for more and more individuality... that's the news that comes to us in this exclusive story for the Beauty Review. And it's backed up with make-up charts, which show you how.

You may have heard the theory that bad features should be emphasized if you are to acquire a certain, individual beauty. Don't believe it. Hollywood has discovered that an imperfection can be accented . . . to give the "personality" Hollywood stars seek so they can outrace their competition . . . but the trick is to know WHICH one to accent, and which one to MINIMIZE! Which one is an individual, intriguing "imperfection," or irregularity, and which one is just too bad!

(Please Turn to Next Page)

Ginger Rogers' piquant chin, squarish and firm like that of a small boy, and broadness of face at forehead are also given unusual emphasis, in "personality make-up," described in accompanying story; chart shows most effective rouge placement.

Lucille Ball has far from "perfect" face, which though you might not guess it the stars don't wish to achieve, for individuality's sake. Exclusive Hollywood story above explains her clever make-up tricks, with make-up highlight indicated in chart here.

SHADOW ON EYES IS TRANSPARENT

STRANGE . . . you see it, yet you don't . . . the subtlest eye shadow is a "transparent" one that comes in many different tints. Eyelids aren't painted . . . they have a silvery sheen that hints of color . . . breathtaking, and never "made up" looking or artificial . . . Interested? "Read "Information. Thanks."

POINTERS ABOUT IMPROVING SKIN

In the washing treatment of an oily skin, don't abruptly alternate between very hot and very cold water, as is often recommended for general skin cleansing and toning. Instead, begin with warm water, and then gradually, decrease the heat of the lather water. Repeat this process several times.

Imperfect Face Aids Stars' Makeup

PERSONALITY TRICKS ARE REVEALED

If every face were perfect, all stars would look alike. And the same thing applies to you, and the girl you went to college with, and the one who works at the next desk.

Learn from the stars then, that the wise one prefers to accent her unusual (which often means irregular) features, to achieve that all-important difference which makes and keeps her an individual.

It's individuality which keeps her name up in lights, just as it is your individuality which makes you stand out in your work or social life.

In deciding just what you'll do to bring out this facet in your personality, consider the theories arrived at by Mel Berns, head of the make-up department at RKO Radio Studios, in Hollwood, who was persuaded to give us make-up tricks of the stars.

STUDY "IRREGULARITY"

First of all, you might discover where your "irregularity" of feature is centered. Though Hollywood makeup men, artists and directors, are most unwilling to define anything as elusive as perfection, here is what is considered the definition of a "regular" face:

In length, the face should divide into three equal parts; from hairline to brows, from brows to base of nose, from base of nose to chin.

In width, face should be about three-fourths of length, broadest at checkbones, tapering up slightly to hairline, tapering down in graceful curve to chin.

Distance between eyes should be length of one eye.

Curve of lips should repeat curve of brow. (In other words, straight brows with straight lips, curved brows with full-curved mouth.)

With all this in mind, look at these pictures and sketches of the stars which show, graphically, how they makeup, what they do with their hair. Note also that each star accents some variation from the average—to accent individuality.

To give the "analysis" of photographs and sketches on the cover, for which there was not room in the captions, we'll finish off the make-up expert's judgment on Carole Lombard's unique beauty, and go on to Ginger Rogers' and Lucille Ball's:

FEATURES ACCENTED

Close to the "perfect" face is Ginger Rogers'. Her face is broadest at the forehead, tapers from there to her chin. So she calmly accents this line with rolled-back hair hinting the pompadour. Of all the hair styles she has worn, Ginger prefers some variation of this roll—and chose the style long before the current pompadour craze.

Whatever the occasion, Ginger wears make-up conservatively. For sports, she prefers a face oil which highlights her face. Brows are brown and she lets them alone. Lashes are accented with a little mascara. She avoids purple-toned lipsticks. If your face is shaped like Ginger's and you need color, apply it in the longer than average line on outer edge of face, indicated in sketch.

WIDEST AT EYES

Lucille Ball has a shorter, broader face and rounder chin than Carole. Her face is widest at the eyes—which she chooses to accent rather than minimize. In her current production, "Too Many Girls," she wears her hair brushed casually back from her forehead, without part, letting it fall long to add length to her face.

She accents the length of eyes with mascara on outer lashes, accents brows with a hint of pencil on outer ends. For the street, she wears no shadow, but day or night, wears black or blue mascara.

She begins her makeup by applying a powder base with a sponge, smoothing it out with a heavy puff. She applies her rouge (as indicated in sketch) with a sable paint brush. Below the rouge, she often wears a hint of darker powder. Last of all, mascara.

Contours of Anna Neagle's face are regular, though her forehead is higher and broader than average. Occasionally she wears bangs, as she does for her role in "No, No Nanette." In private life, she prefers to part her hair on the left, sweep it straight across the top of her head, curl the ends casually. Her eyes are unusually long, broadly spaced. Quite casually, she accents this width—part of the character of her face.

Miss Neagle's make-up chart shows application of rouge in an extremely long line. It must be blended down to nothing at lower jaw line, however. In England, she wears no powder base, but this country's climate is drier, so she uses a very, very light base. She defines the outer ends of her brows with brown pencil, accents top lashes, but never the bottom ones. Her favorite color is lipstick red, which she often wears in jackets, accessories. Otherwise, she prefers white or blue, with lipstick a bright, clear red, to emphasize her typical "English gold" hair and deep blue eyes.

YOUR MAKEUP TINT AVAILABLE

It's not gross exaggeration at all . . . a different powder base, powder and accents for eyelids, cheeks and lips can make you look a different, more glamorous person . . . but if you're not an expert color-dabbler, or haven't the means to buy fifteen new or so new tints to try out . . . go to the new salon in town which will show you color magic you'd never dreamed of before.

They have as many as 21 custom-blended lipstick shades alone . . . they tint powder for you . . they have as astounding corrective "pick up masque" to smooth creping skin.

You may be treated to a complimentary treatment with any of their corrective cosmetics as well as the beautifying shades of make-up in their really astounding array. It's a no-charge service . . . try it before a date sometime when you have an hour that should be made precious and worthwhile instead of wasted! "Information, Thanks" will give you a further lead.

NEW THROAT LOTION IS OFFERED

By CAROL AMES

You may have a string of baroque pearls that took years and a fortune to collect . . . but if your throatline is not unblurred and not smooth-textured . . . you may as well give the pearls to someone who'll think they're pretty beads . . . unless you propose to restore your throat to a look of youth!

There is a brand new treatment . . . formerly available only in a Fifth Avenue salon for costly facials, and never to be taken out for home use . . . which just this week makes its bow to Boston.

The secret of this treatment is the use of two creams, and concentration on throat texture by means of a combined face and neck going-over! It is thoughtful and thorough beauty sense, surely . . . to rouse circulation in all surrounding tissue in order to benefit a much-neglected area like the throat!

First you fluff some new, fragrant make-up mask cream over your face . . . at least 15 minutes before you make up. Now coat on the heavier, aromatic throat and neck cream, from chin to collarbone.

In less time than it takes to tell, your face will have an exquisit glow, and the texture of the throat will be perceptibly smoother, finer. This is a corrective treatment . . . and can and should be used often.

Dear Carol: It took only one blast of fairly cold weather to start my lips chapping. I have tried several pomades, but without much success, because they are too greasy under lipstick, so I can only use them at night. Please suggest something to help me. S. M.

Dear S. M.: Extra-sensitive lips need daytime protection, too, and now you may have it and your lipstick, too! Often badly chapped lips mean no lip rouge may be used for awhile . . . but not with a special lipstick (in every smart shade) which has emollient, skin protective lipstick. See the "Information, Thank You" box on these pages.

SPECIAL REMOVER TAKES OFF STAINS

OUT, such-and-such spot, you could say . . . and out it would be, so you wouldn't be on the er-spot poor old Lady Macbeth was . . . you may efficiently rout nicotine, dye or ink stains with a special remover . . . see an "Information, Thanks" box on these pages for a cue.

LANOLIN IS HELP TO DRY SKIN

It's the girl who's careless about her cleansing cream . . . we mean the type she chooses, not the quantity she uses . . . that slides back two steps even as she takes one in her pursuit of complexion perfection.

Your skin is dry and sensitive. How did we guess? It's not a guessing matter. Statistics show that the great majority of feminine complexions come under this head. In that case see search everlastingly for aids to counteract the condition.

Even dry skins vary greatly in individual requirements . . . you realize it . . . but forget it completely when it comes to a cleanser.

If your skin is dry . . it will be drier, come football, Christmas shopping and skating weather. If, in addition, your tissues have a thin, dusty look instead of a firm fullness . . . you'll do well to aid them with nature's most potent supplying agent, lanolin.

There is a cleansing cream that's literally crammed with lanolin; at the same time, it's a roundingly inexpensive. From its "supplying" aid your complexion is benefited by elements that make for a satiny young sheen, a firm, sound-apple look for thin, crinkling tissues.

Because of the rich, golden consistency of this lanolin-content cleansing cream, you'll use it a little differently from most . . . pick it up in small quantities, let it dissolve a little on your fingertips, then "stipple" it on, don't rub.

GILT-EDGED COSMETIC FOR PORES

By ARLINE GOULD

Perhaps you can't put your finger on the cause of open pores that disfigure your complexion . . . but you certainly can put an eye on them . . . in fact, neither you nor anyone else can miss them, what with rouge becoming embedded there . . . and the smoothest make-up taking on a porous appearance.

For this problem, and the coarse type of skin which needs surface-refining so it will appear thin and silken-fine . . . there is a famous pore-disciplining cream, which acts as a masque . . . and may be used on either dry or oily skin with marvelous results, just so long as it's pore-pitted or coarse!

It isn't often that you get a chance to try a gilt-edged cosmetic in a dollar size . . . but a special jar has been made available to those who might not have known of the costlier original size.

Twenty minutes should be devoted to this rite . . . while the scented white masque dries on . . . and then remove it . . . a touch of foundation, a brush of make-up . . . on your way, beautiful!

AMERICAN BEAUTY

A modification of the pompadour is this hair-do, which may be worn at any time of day or evening with any type of costume . . . a combination of soft side waves, flat crown and a cluster of curls at the nape.

POMADE IS GREAT AID TO SCALP

By ARLINE GOULD

You can't brush me off . . . is the possible theme of collar-littering dry-scalp flakes . and it's one of the uncharming items the hush-hush advertisements bring up in their coy little way. Strangely enough, it's actually one of the most easily remed conditions.

Would you expect a scalp that's smothered under hats, exposed to any and all atmospheric conditions, and then left to it own devices, without help from the owner, to be anything but a flake-choked, dry and irritated one?

Whether yours is the feminine worry of a perfect pompadour, or the masculine one of a hairline that looks as though a blitzkrieg were after it, the basic question is one of scalp clarity and soundness . . . That's why you should know of a scalp pomade whose formula is unique because in it are oils which scientifically duplicate those in your own sebaceous tissues . . those which are responsible for hair health and growth.

If it's properly used, the scalp pomade doesn't give the hair a lank, greased look. And it's known to be manna for harsh hair, in that way from permanents or a dry condition, for falling and breaking hair, or the listless, dull type that has no body or natural sparkle.

Here's the routine: Around the hairline every other day; twice a week, dabbed lightly on the parts where problem-spots show most flakiness; an overnight treatment, all over the scalp (and let it get on the hair this time) just before a shampoo. It washes off very easily.

When the scalp is lubricated this way, surface scale and acid waste or perspiration are removed . . . and you'll risk no brush-offs because your scalp lets you down, or your hair is unlovely to see!

LUMINOUS NAIL POLISH OFFERED

NOT decorations for black-out nights, so you could paint the way for someone . . . but iridescent nail lacquer that's luminous and glamorous, for your bright days and unblacked-out nights . . . 25c a full-size vial as contrasted with usual uppish price for such star-dust stuff. See "Information, Thanks."

QUICK CLEANSER HELP TO BEAUTY

A "quick morning cleanser" is a milky lotion that's pride of an exclusive line . . . it's so very gentle, soft as rain water . . . spread it on thoroughly; what you do next depends on the kind of skin you have. If it's oily, rinse the complexion-milk off with water . . . if it's dry, use tissues, and what film remains is a nice powder base. $1 for a lot of it. Look up the "Information, Thanks" box on these pages.

CREAM NICE STANDBY TO HAVE

SO ASTOUNDING do its creators believe a new all-purpose-for-everyone cream in that they've given it a name which means "new life", and never before was it to be had outside of the inner sanctum of their treatment salon, where it was part of a youth-replenishing treatment for glitterbugs, social and stage celebrities, and for which some imposing fee was charged.

It's bound to be the standby, the beauty prop of any "woman of uncertain age" who doesn't want to be definitely tagged as fortyish this or fiftyish that.

Frankly, it's corrective. There is no dreamy aura of perfume. It isn't pink as a boudoir pillow. It is brownish, unperfumed, but with a richness rising from it that's biblically herbal. The consistency isn't romantic as Shelley. It's thick freighted with ingredients that aren't available to any other cosmetic.

In it are herbs, vitamins, glandular derivatives . . . so that it combines the effect of hormone creams . . . and they say that its effect on throat and eye wrinkles, on the mouth parentheses and any crepiness is something that's hard to believe . . . until it happens to you.

BOB POMPADOUR

A pompadour with short hair makes a stunning coiffure for the older woman . . . equally stunning for the younger! The back hair is short in this one.

New Grace In Exercise

By CAROL AMES

There's no doubt that to be beauty conscious these days a girl has to be exercise-minded! If that weren't the case, we wouldn't have already mailed out slimming and grace-producing exercise routines literally by the thousand. And wouldn't be readying to repeat the performance with a brand new set of "living exercises" . . . all gayly illustrated . . . waiting for you, dear readers!

It just happens that these exercise creations deserve the popularity they rate . . . for they are scientifically devised in a salon which is famous for its collaboration with science . . . both in cosmetics and in figure-and-health exercises like these.

"Living" exercises in this new leaflet are as good as a course of exercise lessons in a swank salon, done to soft music and the charmingly accented voice of a Viennese body-beauty specialist!

For your copy of the sketch-illustrated "living exercises," a new series, just write me in care of this paper, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Golden girls whose hair has been drained of its highlights can get back the complexion flattering gleam with a French ad . . . don't worry, it's now manufactured in this country. It's a concentrated camomile-base lightener that's harmless, and isn't a dye.

Mild, . . . this brightener is a d . . . that has made its way . . . a salon, as a glitter . . . dull locks. When it's given the stamp of professional . . . and as such it must pass . . . harmless, for the sake of future hair health and b . . . you know it has what it takes.

Discovered where? See last paragraph.

1—EXCEPTIONALLY softening to rough little mitts, yours or the children's, is a mint-colored cream made on a soothing olive oil base . . . that instantly makes your hands feel like pampered pets. Big buy . . . $1 for tree-mendous $2.75 jar.

2—AMAZING . . . a "treatment" wave-set in cream form! For home hair-dos that don't gleam, aren't soft, after permanents or from sheer neglect. Gives bleached or dyed hair new vigor, shines it up instantly. Fuzzy ends roll up into satiny ringlets, if you just rub wave-set cream on 'em!

3—SEDUCTIVE is the word for a glamorous fragrance which, to us, is one of the allure-weapons of a new fluffy powder base cream . . makes your skin devilishly fragrant, your complexion angelically smooth.

4—IT'S MAGICAL . . . a couple strokes with a pencil made of certified colors that shampoo out, and grey hair streaks are blacked out! Comes in tints to match all colors of hair. Proof of its tried-and-true qualities: 20 years of use!

5—SHEERER stockings demand Petty-props with no sign of fuzziness; beware of razors, don't bother with messy aids, a few whirling whisks with a handy gadget frays off hair. Grows in (after longer interval) soft as before; can use it frequently as you wish

6—LUXURY, fascination of Imperial Russian court expressed in super-concentrated cologne, almost like perfume . . . glittering scent for furs, lame, orchids, makes you feel you have 'em even if you haven't . . . for a few more days. 3-ounce $2 size for $1.

7—FIGHT BLEMISHES with sulphur in colloidal form (always a chemical ingredient of unblemished skin, or didn't you know?) by cleans' with it; comes in cake, looks and lathers like soap, but isn't. Use with complexion brush which scrubs off damaged old skin, while new, clear skin comes up.

We'll tell you how to find them see last paragraph.

8—THEY SAY a certain wonder-liquid has cleared many blemished complexions in from five to seven days, one reason being that its corrective ingredients act every waking minute, because it is a clean-ser, blemish-disguiser and silken powder base, all in one.

9—A POMPADOUR, to be sleekly effective, can't have streaming ends. A special new preparation, like a lacquer but not so stiff, polishes your hair and keeps it neat as a pin . . . transparent, combs out, fragrant . . . 50c a bottle

10—THEY SAY it's almost unbelievable . . . the transparent, line-free smoothing a truly unique "pick-up masque" on a balsam base can give . . . In 10 to 20 minutes of relaxation. Pink as strawberry cream, elegantly rich consistency, and your skin glows as well as acts like portrait velvet. There is a smaller size but a $10 jar gives a full year of constant treatment.

Love Changeable

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am very much in love with a girl, who has two personalities. Sometimes she's a wonder; you can't imagine how fascinating she can be. And then, for no cause whatsoever, she turns and becomes terribly trying.

I try to get her to tell me why she is that way, but she only turns on the sulks, or even flies into a rage, and says that I'm too stupid to understand. But what is there to understand? When she is mean like that, I wish I had never seen her, and when she is sweet I think I'm the luckiest man in the world.

WONDERING.

A good name for this girl would be "bittersweet." If you think her "sweet" side is more valuable to you than the "bitter," then you're that much to the good.

Raisin Cookies for Lunches

By MARTHA LEE

A school lunch with nothing to carry home is sometimes the request of modern school children. The paper bag kind of a lunch, supplemented by a hot drink or hot dish served at the school, can be made a thoroughly satisfying and nourishing meal.

However, a paper bag as a lunch container has the disadvantage of letting sandwiches dry out a little more quickly than a metal box or pail. This handicap may be met by careful wrapping in plenty of waxed paper and by the frequent use of raisin bread which stays moist and fresh longer than other kinds. Raisin cookies and fruited cake also possess that happy faculty of retaining their freshness under adverse conditions.

OATMEAL DROP COOKIES WITH RAISINS

1 cup sugar
3 eggs
2 cups rolled oats
1 cup raisins
1 cup broken nut meats
2¼ cups sifted pastry flour
1-3 cup sweet milk

Cream butter, add sugar and cream well. Add eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after addition of each. Add oats, raisins and nuts. Sift flour and soda together and add alternately with the milk. Drop by tablespoonsful onto a lightly greased cooky sheet and bake in center of a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for about 15 minutes, depending upon size of cooky.

RAISIN GINGERBREAD

2 cups sifted flour
½ tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. baking soda
¼ tsp. salt
½ tsp. ginger
½ tsp. cinnamon
¼ tsp. cloves
½ cup sugar
½ cup chopped raisins
1½ tsp. vinegar
½ cup evaporated milk
¾ cup molasses
2 eggs
½ cup soft shortening

Mix and sift dry ingredients; stir in raisins. Add vinegar to evaporated milk; when soured, add molasses and stir into dry ingredients. Beat in thoroughly one egg at a time, then the softened shortening; turn into greased square pan and bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 40 to 50 minutes. Makes 1 (9-inch) square cake.

RAISIN DOUGHNUTS

½ cup sugar
Yolks 2 eggs, well beaten
½ cup sour milk
½ tsp. soda
2 cups flour
½ tsp. cinnamon
¼ tsp. salt
1-3 cup seeded or seedless raisins

Add the sugar to the beaten egg yolks; add the milk to which the soda has been added. Sift the flour, cinnamon and salt and add. Stir in raisins. Drop by teaspoons in hot deep fat (360 deg. F.). Fry until little balls are lightly browned, turning as they rise to top and several times during frying. Drain. Makes 20 doughnut balls.

AD MEN WILL HEAR RADIO'S NEW F M

A working demonstration of radio's latest revolutionizing element, Frequency Modulation, will be given at the weekly luncheon of the Advertising Club of Boston, Oct. 22, in the Hotel Statler.

The new element, known to radio men as F M, is a recent discovery which permits the transmission of radio waves with a minimum of interference and a maximum trueness of tone. Such a thing as scratching a match can be reproduced as perfectly as though it was done in the same room.

At the luncheon a regular broadcast originating in the dining room will first be heard with the accent on the distortion and static present in every radio transmission.

Then an F M broadcast will be received in order to compare the clarity and absence of tonal obstructions in the new element. So true is the medium many "radio-made" voices may prove unsuitable to use it.

Linus Travers, Boston announcer for the Yankee Network, will be in charge of the demonstration assisted by Paul A. DeMars, F M technician who is partly responsible for the great strides the invention has made. John Shepard, an F M pioneer, will address the luncheon.

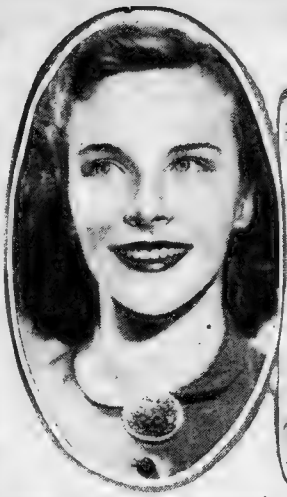
'TWELFTH NIGHT' PREMIERE



PRETTY Joan Tetzel is importantly featured in "The White-Haired Boy," new comedy by Charles Martin and Beatrice Kaufman which comes to the Plymouth a week from tonight.

HELEN HAYES, as the merry, girlish Viola, and Maurice Evans, the hilarious Malvolio, of "Twelfth Night," one of Shakespeare's most delightful plays, which opens a two-week engagement tonight at the Colonial Theater. In support of the stars are appearing June Walker, Sophie Stewart, Wesley Addy and Mark Smith.

To her already splendid and varied list of roles, Helen Hayes will add a new type of characterization when she appears as the lowly and delightful Viola in the production of "Twelfth Night," which opens under the joint auspices of the Theater Guild and Gilbert Miller at the Colonial Theater tonight for a two-week engagement.

With Maurice Evans, the most noted Shakespearean actor of our day, playing the hilarious Malvolio, this will be one of the most exciting and important theatrical events in years, for the appearance of either of these stars alone is a matter of unusual interest.

Miss Hayes has for some years wished to appear in a Shakespearean role. As a matter of fact, she varied her long tour in "Victoria Regina" with occasional and successful special matinees as Portia, in "The Merchant of Venice."

Otherom mitments, however, prevented her from carrying out this wish. When Miss Hayes finally decided that Shakespeare was in order, she hit upon the merry, girlish Viola of "Twelfth Night," with her gay disguise and won only charm.

It then appeared that Mr. Evans had long cherished a desire to trick himself out as the cross-gartered Malvolio, and add the role to his already extensive gallery of brilliant Shakespearean characters, such as Richard II, Falstaff and Hamlet.

Their Golden Wedding

By Frederic Hatton

WHEN the Franklyn Browns celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary in 1915 everyone who was anything in Midland City gathered at the Country Club to make it the event of the year.

Mary Simpson Brown stood at the door receiving guests and congratulations and wondering where her husband was. He had been late on the same date 25 years earlier for his own wedding. Evidently he was still running true to form.

Finally she caught sight of a cloud of dust approaching rapidly on the highway from the town. Then with a roar and a rush a maroon-colored car came hurtling through the club gates. Franklyn Brown got his hand on the brake lever just in time to save the left wing of the clubhouse.

Red-faced and triumphant he turned off the ignition and rose to shout at his startled wife:

"Mary! Come out here and see your silver wedding present."

"Frank," she protested as she ran down the steps, "you shouldn't have done this! The car is grand, but it can wait. Our guests are hungry."

She pulled him up the steps and to the door. Their guests would have liked to come out and give the car a going over, but she waved them back. "That four-cylinder marvel will still be here when we get through," she said. "It will look even better then."

As they led the way to the dining room Frank reached in his vest pocket and took out a $20 gold piece which he placed in his wife's hand.

"First payment of that million I'm going to give you sooner or later," he whispered in her ear.

"Frank Brown, don't tell me you dared attend a directors' meeting on this of all afternoons."

"Had to go. They made me president of the reorganized Farmers' Loan and Trust Company."

No one was jealous of Frankyn Brown's success. Midland City had been good to him, but he never forgot the town. He was one rich man who spread his money around. It was small wonder that he was president of the leading bank and the Chamber of Commerce, officer in half a dozen corporations and member of endless committees.

"You're all invited to be with us twenty-five years from today," Frank said when it came time for him to make his response.

One guest full of turkey, champagne and optimism called out: "Sure we won't have to go to Washington? I figger the Honorable Franklyn Brown will be too big for Midland City by 1940."

It was midnight when Frank and Mary saw the last of their guests off at the club. The car had been put through all its paces. Every part had been examined and explained.

Across the high road was the simple farmhouse, now empty, where Mary had been born and wed. She took her husband by the arm and led him to the porch where he had done his courting. She was again in a modest white dress. She saw the man beside her as a tanned, eager country lad.

LOVERS STILL

They sat and looked on the still-lighted country club as if they were seeing a vision.

"It's been a lovely twenty-five years," she sighed softly. "And I'm so proud of my husband! Why, Frank, you're just about the biggest man in town. I'd like to live it all over again with you."

His voice was husky as he replied: Mary, that's the nicest thing anyone has said today.

He kissed her tenderly.

They sat long, hand in hand, wrapped in their thoughts of each other—and what had been, and what might be.

"If only Dorothy could have been here today how proud she would have been of her father."

"I know," he comforted her. "No one misses a daughter more than I do. But there is little Dot. It was nice of her father to send us the long cablegram from London.

Let's see—the youngster must be two years old now, isn't she?"

"Yes. I wonder if Jim could bring her over or have her sent to us for a while."

"I'm afraid he has his hands full. But let me arrange that for you. A child always brightens up a house. I'll send Jim a nice cable tomorrow. Trust me to fix it up for you."

A man came out of the club gate and walked across the road. It was Jerry Walton, the caretaker, on his last round for the night. He stopped as he saw the couple on the steps in the moonlight.

"Oh, it's you, Mr. and Mrs. Brown. I mistook you for a couple of sparkers. They sure love that porch . . . Well, folks, you've had quite a day! This is a nice little house of yours, Mrs. Brown. I'd like to buy it if it's on the market."

"I'm sorry," she returned quietly, "but this cottage is so wrapped up in my memories that it will never be sold as long as I live."

A CHANGED MAN!

Twenty-five years later, at almost the same hour, Franklyn Brown got off an interurban bus at the cross street just below the old farm house, now well inside the limits of Midland City.

It was a thin, oldish-looking man who walked the concrete highway opposite the abandoned country club. He turned in toward familiar but sagging posts and walked up the steps of the cottage. The door swung open and then he saw Mary standing with open arms.

"Darling," she cried, "you did make it! I had given up all hope of seeing you when you didn't telephone from the station after the 11:15 came in. I couldn't have endured it if you weren't here for our celebration. Remember what day this is?"

"Of course I do. I've been thinking of it for months. But I got off the train at Millville. I took the bus over. I didn't want to see anyone but you!"

"Of course, I understand." She smiled between kisses. "My, you're making me feel 20 again. Oh, darling, it's so wonderful to have you back."

He looked at her through tear-dimmed eyes. She really didn't seem old enough to be having a golden wedding anniversary. Her soft hair was gray and she wore glasses, but she was sweet and lovely as ever.

Courage, faith and confidence came from her in a life-giving wave. She pulled him in gently and closed the door. "Now come upstairs with me and get ready for our party. I have a marvelous surprise for you. But I'll let you find that out yourself. I hope you're hungry. Don't be long."

When Frank came down to the dining room he noticed that the table was set for three.

"Who is that extra place for?" he asked.

She turned and called back. "All right, you can come in now."

Then he saw a beautiful woman, evidently in her late twenties, enter the room. He looked at her with open mouth for a moment, then turned to Mary. It was as if his daughter had returned to life.

"But it can't be Dorothy—she's, she's——"

He couldn't finish what he was trying to say.

Mary was smiling through tears. "Frank, don't you know your own granddaughter when you see her? She's living with us now."

Dorothy ran into his arms. "Oh Granddad, I'm so glad to see you." She kissed him and clung to him.

Frank was breathing as he sat down at the table. His whole past seemed to be marching by him in review. And now his granddaughter who had been living abroad all these years was back. But now he remembered something else.

"... isn't there a child?" he asked.

"But I want to see her now!"

"She won't run away," Mary smiled. "But this is your party. But first, look under your plate."

There he found the $20 gold piece he had given her twenty-five years ago. "Looks bigger now, doesn't it, Frank?" she said.

BACK HOME

Jerry Walton, now seated on a stool in the hot dog stand at the corner, was consoling himself with a ham sandwich and a cup of coffee. He was the last customer and the proprietor was waiting to close the place for the night. But the latter could see that the old man wanted to talk.

"Yeah."

"That's a mighty cute kid that plays around there all day."

"It's the old lady's great-granddaughter. Well, sir, Frank Brown is back. Before the war, the civil war, I mean, he was the biggest man in this town, president of a couple banks, head of most everything."

"So? Well, I wouldn't know about that. Has the fellow been away somewhere?"

Walton removed his pipe from his mouth. "Yep, son, he's been away for quite a time—in the pen for misusin' trust funds. Of course, everybody knew he was made the goat, takin' the rap for a lot of other fellows . . . Well, I guess the only person left that thinks he's a big man now is his wife! But she's a wonder. Wouldn't be surprised if she married him all over again!"

THE END

You'll enjoy Scott Ryall's story on this page tomorrow. The title is "White Chief."

"Oh, Grand-dad, I'm so glad to see you!"

18—Special Notice

TO FUR DEALERS AND THE GENERAL PUBLIC

In every big organization there is some mercenary clique that is being constantly bombed by designers and models in window displays, fashion shows and theatrical performances. These garments become soiled but are still fine, beautiful furs. To ladies looking for rare bargains we are sacrificing these gorgeous creations at sensational prices. Reconditioned fur coats and unclaimed storage garments are also included, which fact is plainly indicated on tags. None of these garments are in our regular stock. They will be shown only upon request. Ask for Mr. Murray, I. J. Fox, 411 Washington Street, Boston. The extraordinary values include Natural Mink Coat, $395; Tipped Mink $475; Black Persian Lamb, $145, Mink-Dyed Muskrat, $175; Let-out Tipped Raccoon, $95; Hudson Seal-Dyed Muskrat, $75; Silver Fox Greatcoat, originally $585, now $275; Mink-Dyed Marmot, $55; Silver Fox Jacket, $65; South American Otter Coat, originally $795, now $495; Leopard Coat, originally $365, now $99; White Ermine Coat, featured in many fashion shows, slightly soiled, original $750, now $195

INVITATION FOR BIDS
Boston Housing Authority

U. S. H. A.-Aided Housing Project Mass.-2-7

The Boston Housing Authority will receive sealed bids for the construction of the U. S. H. A.-Aided Housing Project Mass.-2-7, located at Heath Street, City of Boston, Massachusetts, until three (3) o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time, Friday, November 15, 1940, at the office of the Boston Housing Authority, 15 Oliver Street, Boston, Massachusetts, at which time and place all bids will be publicly opened and read aloud. The successful Bidder will be required to furnish a satisfactory performance and payment bond, as set forth in the specifications. Attention is called to the fact that not less than the minimum wage rates as set forth in a schedule contained in the specifications must be paid on this Project. A copy of such schedule may be obtained without cost upon application therefor at the office of the Boston Housing Authority. Attention is also called to the requirements relating to Workmen's Compensation and conditions of employment. Contract documents, including drawings and specifications, are on file at the office of the Boston Housing Authority, 15 Oliver Street, Boston, Massachusetts. Copies of the documents may be obtained by depositing $100. in the form of a certified check, with the Boston Housing Authority for each set of documents so obtained. The amount of the deposit will be refunded to each person who returns all the documents in good condition within 10 days after opening of bids. The Boston Housing Authority reserves the right to reject any or all bids of the General Bidders and to waive any informalities in bidding, if it be in the public interest so to do. The Boston Housing Authority also reserves the right to reject any or all bids of the Sub Bidders and to waive any informalities in the bidding. If such rejection or waiver be in conformance with Chapter 490 of the Massachusetts Acts of 1939, a certified check on, or a certification of credit issued by, a responsible bank or trust company, payable to the Boston Housing Authority, or a satisfactory bid bond executed by the bidder and a surety company, shall be submitted with each bid as follows: (1) By General Bidders in the amount of $50,000.00; (2) By Sub-Bidders listed under Item 2 of the General Contract Bid Form in not less than 5% of the Sub-Bidder's bid price. No bid of a General Bidder shall be withdrawn for a period of thirty (30) days subsequent to the approval by the United States Housing Authority of the award of the contract by the Boston Housing Authority, and no bid of a Sub-Bidder shall be withdrawn for a period of thirty (30) days subsequent to the award of a contract to the General Contractor, without the consent of the Boston Housing Authority.

HOW TO GET A LOAN AT LOWER COST

Reduced rates cut payments on all loans over $100

You can get a personal loan of $20 to $300 at Household Finance at rates substantially below the lawful maximum—if you can repay in small monthly installments.

Payments to fit your purse

You may choose the most convenient repayment plan from the table below. Suppose that you need $100 and you can readily repay $9.75 a month. Your installments will repay a $100 loan in full in twelve months. Or, if you wish smaller payments, as little as $6.41 a month for twenty months will also repay a $100 loan.

See the sample loans and payment plans in the table. (Loans also made in other amounts and for other periods.) Payments in the table repay everything. Household's rate of 2½% per month has long been below the lawful maximum. Now a new reduction has cut Household's rate to 2% per month on that part of your loan in excess of $100.

Simple to borrow

We require no salary or wage assignment, no stocks or bonds. (Loans are made on furniture, car or note.) No credit inquiries made of friends or relatives. And you don't have to ask friends or fellow-workers to sign the papers with you.

Barracks Buildings Taking Shape at Camp Edwards

During the past week our carpenter force has increased from 5,000 to over 7,500. The job has now been opened up. We need 3,500 more carpenters until Camp Edwards is finished.

Carpenter Wages $1.17½ per hour

Time and a half for Saturday

Double Time Sunday and Holidays

Camp Edwards is located about equal distances from Falmouth, Buzzards Bay, and Sagamore. Highways to Camp from Routes 28 and 6.

More than 14,000 construction men, including over 8,000 carpenters are now employed at the Camp site.

All building trades workers employed are affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. All men desirous of employment but who do not belong to the Union can secure Union membership on fair terms at Camp site or preferably at the local Union in your home town.

Bring your carpenter tools with you.

AUSTEN LAKE

THIS MIGHT HAVE BEEN IMAGINED in a Hollywood fiction studio. A movie manuscript writer might have sketched such a football plot to order of the production manager. You know the style! "Now Mr. Blevins, give us something with a gooseflesh finish, something where the hero wins the big game in the last eye-wink of play. Hysterical thousands! Element of suspense and that big, cataclysmic Wow!"

Mr. Blevins might have framed the plot as thus:

Locus—Yale's big ash-tray. 20,000 shivering people standing on their seats and yelling "Hurry, hurry," or "Hold 'em," as the case might be.

Personel—Yale and Dartmouth in the deep October gloaming, embroidered by the most pulchritudinous, curvlinear, and luscious football girls, alumni papas and wives (with progeny), plus the shock haired, peach-fuzz-cheeked studentry ("Crowd effects, Mr. Blevins,—huzzahs, band music and soul moans") Score 7 to 7. "That aorta thing Mr. Blevins!"

Scene—Dartmouth crouching at midfield and a Yale substitute, Ted Harrison, in the No. 1 position flexing his throwing arm as the sable finger of the bleacher clock inches slowly and inexorably toward zero. There are only a few seconds left.

"Hurry, hurry. Hold 'em!"

"Yeh, Mr. Blevins that's it. Get a close up of crowd frenzy—pop-eyed, cuff-chewing stuff. Then one of the automatic clocks with that second hand a few ticks from 0. Then back to a shot of Harrison limbering his fingers while the two teams crouch in a teeth-clenched, die-for-dear-old-alma pose. The kind of stuff that makes the audience say, 'Gosh, will they ever snap that ball?' See?"

That sort of movie final. Only this was the real muscle and bones life.

THE FACT IS THAT MOSELEY, son of an illustrious Yale Blue of a quarter century ago, did snap the ball before field Judge George Vergara let go his curfew toot. And Harrison let go his prayful pass, a weak, barn swallow sort of flutter, down-field to the arms of Ray Bartholomy. It was one of those things which make opposing coaches turn gray, wrinkled and arthritic. For Bartholomy (The kind of a name that Ladies Home Journal authors likes to choose) picked it from the cerulean-blue, like a farm boy swiping pies off a window sill. And the game was over a moment later, as the delirious thousands tumbled down from the slopes scaling hats and swirling around the sweat-stained kids like they had just won a war single-handed. The fat was snatched from the fire and instead of a dignified 7-7 tie in a nip-and-tuck ball game, Yale had created something epic in the memory of the many. This one would be talked over many an alumni beer-and-biscuit

But there was more to the grand blow-off than that.

Two minutes before the final Yale touchdown the ball had rested on the Cobalt's 24-yard mark—too deep for danger, too far for hope. Yet the impossible happened. Harrison, from a shallow, slant formation, caught Dartmouth's defenses slumbering and dropped an initial 20-yard pass into the hands of this same little pest, Bartholomy. The knotty kid was off in a big letter Z, as he skirted the side-line to Dartmuth's 43. Still it seemed nothing more than a last minute pulse flicker of a dying hope.

For 43 yards is an impossible continent with that moving finger starting to crawl its last orbit. The rest is history!

THE PLOT WAS GOOD, but Yale missed a better bit of drama earlier in the fourth quarter. For it had stalled, fourth down, on the Green's 14. What ho! . . . here comes a pardon from the Governor, a slim, unathletic looking kid in an azure jersey scampers from the

HARVARD'S PASSING GAME AUGURS WELL FOR FUTURE

By JOE CASHMAN

Form and Monday morning quarterbacks had a field day in the Stadium last Saturday. Everything went just about the way form dictated. Little went the way the Monday morning quarterbacks dictated.

Form said the teams were evenly matched on paper. The teams said they were evenly matched on the field by battling to a 6-6 tie.

Form said Lowell's Henry Mazur would be the Army eleven, New Haven's Charlie Spreyer would be the Harvard ace. Both young men played their designated roles to perfection.

Form said that if there were a slight edge Harvard would enjoy it Harvard missed only because Mazur had a debut more brilliant than any sophomore playing his first varsity game has any license to experience.

THAT PASS PLAY

As for the Monday quarterbacks, they were furnished more than enough fuel to keep them red hot until Dartmouth comes to town next Saturday.

Why, they ask, didn't Harvard try a place kick instead of a pass which failed from the six-yard line on the last play of the game?

And why did Army, battling to protect a six-point lead and down on its own 23-yard line in the fourth period, throw a pass which was intercepted to pave the way for the Harvard touchdown?

And why didn't Harvard try a touchdown pass instead of a semi-shovel short fling when it lost the ball on downs on the Army five on the fifth play of the game?

THE OTHER SIDE

Anyway, neither mentor was satisfied at the finish, each feeling his side should have won.

Each had something there, too. Harvard missed three opportunities to score touchdowns and failed to convert for a seventh point.

Army blew two touchdown chances and also missed a conversion which, as it turned out, would have spelled victory.

But there's another way to look at it.

Army was fortunate to score at all. Henry Mazur embarked on his forty-yard touchdown run, which covered almost twice that distance, only after fading far back to pass and being unable to locate a potential receiver who was uncovered.

Harvard was equally fortunate to tie the score. If Army hadn't thrown common sense to the winds, Mazur would never have flung the pass which Burgy Ayres intercepted on Army's 26 and Spreyer turned into a touchdown by tossing successively to Gardella, MacKinney and MacKinney.

HARVARD IMPROVED

Harvard might well regret its choice of a pass instead of a place-kick on the last play of the game, but Harlow offered a logical explanation for the choice.

He observed that Spreyer, best of a mediocre group of Crimson place-kickers, had missed the try for point after touchdown and pointed out that 11 of 24 Harvard passes had clicked for a gain of 146 yards.

Yes, said the coach, he approved of the quarterbacking which called for a pass instead of a kick.

This Harvard team as presently constituted is never going to get anywhere on the terrain.

It lacks a ball carrier who is fleet enough to go to town if shaken loose in the open and it lacks a faker to make Harlow deception manufacture a series of first downs by virtue of short gains.

McNICOL RETURNS

Trying spinners, bucks and end sweeps, tackle slabs and end-around plays, the Crimson compiled a net gain of but 31 yards agains a very ordinary Army line.

In the air it was different. Though Spreyer really didn't master control and get the range until the second half, the Harvards finished with a record of 11 passes completed for a gain of 146 yards.

Spreyer is a good passer. Don McNicol, out of the Michigan and Army games due to injuries but due back against Dartmouth next Saturday, is a better passer.

And the Harlow passing plays are very cleverly camouflaged.

Whatever success the Crimson may have in scoring points and pleasing customers in future frays will be through the ozone.

They shouldn't miss clearing the Big Green hurdle, which already has been negotiated by Franklin-Marshall, Columbia and Yale.

EAGLES LEAD EAST ELEVENS IN SCORING

By the Associated Press

Villanova, George Washington and Duquesne have been removed from the East's list of undefeated football outfits, leaving 25 still unbeaten and untied in this area as the season heads toward the half-way point.

Topping the list are Boston College's high-flying Eagles, all-victorious in four starts and with the impressive total of 160 points against 27 for their foes.

Schedule Robs Eagles of Glory

By BLOCKING BACK

The point has frequently been made before, but recent gridiron developments only emphasize the fact that Boston College must shoulder the heavy and lonesome burden of maintaining New England in the national championship football picture.

Not even the most dyed-in-the wool Ivy Leaguer can dispute the evidence that Harvard, Yale and Dartmouth teams of 1940 are of only mediocre ability.

These members of yesteryear's royalty might well be compared to International League baseball teams battling major league teams, the latter represented on the gridiron by such conspicuously outstanding elevens as Boston College, Cornell, Tennessee, Texas A. & M., Notre Dame and Minnesota.

DiMAGGIO? No, it's Blanton of Georgia but the catch would do credit to either Joe or Dom. Georgian seems to be standing on head of Columbia's Snavely to intercept pass tossed by Governali of Columbia. The pass was intended for Wood (21), shown on the right. Columbia won game, 19-13.

THREE MORE SET-UPS

It is exceedingly unfortunate that the Eagles ate much to be proud of that during this, the one year they have long awaited, that is, a decent schedule should rob them of much of their deserved glory.

There has never been a time in the post-war history of Boston College football when the general public was more anxious to acclaim the Eagles, but the public would like to see those powerful and accomplished Eagles playing opponents worthy of their caliber.

Pushovers of the Idaho ilk mean barren galleries and red ink instead of the black ink which would be written into the Boston College books were their contenders more prominent.

The case borders on the tragic considering the fact that the Eagles face three more of these so-called "easy marks" in as many successive Saturdays—St. Anselm, Boston University and Manhattan. Only a vivid imagination can picture either of this trio presenting the Eagles more than a solid workout.

Such soft touches mean loss of much needed revenue. But further, they will inadequately prepare the Eagles for the gruelling part of their schedule which this year has been reserved for the last final fling—Georgetown, Auburn and Holy Cross.

PLAYERS NEED WORK

Football players need actual game contact and work to improve. In such competition as offered by Idaho, the regulars fail to meet the pressure which brings out great play.

There is, however, no gala saying that the Eagles are a great team. Coach Ted Bank of Idaho was open in his statement that the West has nothing to approach the Eagles in power and all around ability.

NOTRE DAME GREAT

As we see it the six teams mentioned rather top the country, all considered and untied. It might be said in passing that Notre Dame appears to be the greatest since Frank Leahy took over at South Bend and the most terrific since that grand old championship team of 1929.

Next in line might come Michigan, Northwestern, Fordham and Pennsylvania, also unbeaten and untied, and perhaps all capable of giving the first half dozen men a run for the win money.

It daily becomes more apparent that Holy Cross is far below the standard set in recent years. The Purple has a wealth of outstanding backs, fast and bruising, but its ends are green and it has no good reserves from tackle to tackle.

Brown is sorely in need of a passable passer. Its ends and guards are just ordinary, and Tuss McLaughry, a master coach when given fair material and manpower, has nothing beyond his first team.

Harvard suffers for lack of a climax runner. How Dick Harlow could use a Vernon Struck at this moment as he shapes the Crimson to meet its destiny in the coming games with Dartmouth, Penn, Princeton, Brown and Yale.

There's much trouble looming for the Harvards. Mighty Penn boasts a standout back in Francis Xavier Keagan who against Princeton on Saturday scored five touchdowns passed for another, booted one extra point, gained 280 yards on 18 carrying plays and thrilled with his passing prowess.

'Dartmouth Spirit' Faces Severe Test

By BILL GRIMES

Now that the Indians of the North have established an all time new low for early season defeats, three in a row, the attendance figures of the 47th Dartmouth-Harvard game next Saturday at the Stadium will decide once and for all if there is anything to that "Old Dartmouth Spirit" slogan.

For decades the Dartmouth alumni, particularly those of the corduroy pants, flannel shirts and moccasin days, have been protesting to the Hanover authorities against opening football seasons with three or four soft touches.

Some years ago Dartmouth played Holy Cross early in the season and was knocked off when Bill Cemanski intercepted a forward pass and ran for a touchdown.

Naturally that defeat didn't set well with anyone even remotely connected with Dartmouth. But, compared to the reactions from that Franklin & Marshall game, Dartmouth took the setback by the Crusaders in stride.

GREEN UNDERMANNED

Beaten by F. & M., Columbia and a weak Yale eleven, there isn't any question that Dartmouth is below par this season.

For many years, Dartmouth was rated among the topnotch Eastern college elevens, But, as they say, what goes up must come down. Dartmouth is no exception to that hard and fast rule. The Indians have come down and are liable to drop a peg lower next Saturday.

So it behooves every Dartmouth man to cancel all previous commitments for Oct. 26, and prove to the world that the Big Green undergraduates and alumni have as much of that "old Dartmouth spirit" as the successful elevens of the past possessed while bringing fame and fortune to the "college on the hill."

HARLOW'S "IRON MEN"

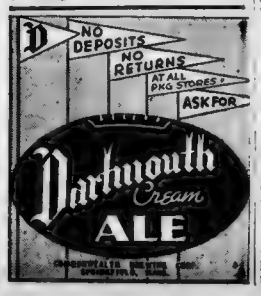
Judging by what we've seen of Harvard and heard about Dartmouth, the Big Green-Crimson setto Saturday in the Stadium should be a thriller. It will not produce Grade A football but the teams are about on a par as regards football ability and man-power.

Harvard is so much under-manned that Capt. Joe Gardella, Loren MacKinney, Endicott Peabody, Tom Gardiner and George Heiden went through the Army game without relief. And Frannie Lee played more than 59 minutes. Present day football is far too strenuous for any player to play from the opening kickoff to the final whistle."

The truth of the situation at Cambridge is that Dick Harlow cannot field even two complete varsity elevens.

He has only two ends, MacKinney and Joe Koufman; three tackles, Pete Elser, Vern Miller and Gardiner, three guards, Peabody, Don Lowry and Joe Ferris; two centers, Sheldon Dietz and Burgie Ayres, and only seven backs, even when Don MacNicol is fit for service.

Harvard has a very clever offense, one which would function very successfully if Harlow had a climax runner available. There isn't any speed in the backfield, and Charlie Spreyer isn't the best heaver that was ever assigned to throw passes for the Crimson. However, Don MacNicol, the sensational sophomore back, will be available for the Dartmouth game, and Harvard will be decidedly stronger.



Moynihan Tops

Frank Moynihan showed the way to the Boston Evening American football selectors Saturday, failing to pick the winner of only the Northeastern-Bates game. Among the games Moynihan forecast correctly were B. U.'s upset win over Cincinnati, Columbia's victory over Georgia, Minnesota's victory over Ohio State and Yale's victory over Dartmouth.

Jack Conway, Bill Grimes and Austen Lake were wrong on only two counts, while Fred Lane and Bill Connell missed out on only three.

Colby, Connecticut Top Small Colleges

With New England's small college football season past the halfway mark, only two schools boast of perfect records—Colby and Connecticut University.

Al McCoy's Colby eleven came up with its fourth straight victory over Middlebury, 26 to 0. Connecticut was hard pressed to down Maine, 13 to 6.

Northeastern proved definitely that it is on the way up by whipping Bates, 12 to 3, for its second successive triumph.

Tufts was the only member of the small college group to go out of its class, losing to Brown, 26 to 6.

Not only did the Jumbos hold the Bruins scoreless in the first period, but they threatened three times and finally scored in the last period.

WILLIAMS-BOWDOIN

Underdog Bowdoin apparently had the game won, 13 to 6, with less than two minutes to play and Williams on its own 1-yard line.

But Hannock faded deep into his own zone and uncorked a pass which Forbes took on his own 33 and raced the rest of the way for a touchdown. Oswald calmly kicked the sixth point, and the game wound up deadlocked 13-13.

New Hampshire ran up its third straight victory by taking Springfield 19 to 6 with little Stacey Clark of Attleboro scoring all three touchdowns.

Amherst and Wesleyan successfully carried the banners of the Little A Three. The Lord Jeffs crushed Rochester, 26 to 0 and Wesleyan came up with its first triumph of the season by downing Haverford, 28 to 13.

STATE SCORES R. I.

American International, boasting the best team in its brief football history, toyed with Worcester Poly Technic 20 to 0; Vermont upset Union 19 to 7. It was the first time the Catamounts have defeated the Schenectady school in their 40-year relationship and it was Union's first loss in 13 starts.

Mass. State, which has yet to win its first game, gave Rhode Island quite a scare before bowing out of the picture 9 to 3.

Turning two blocked kicks into touchdowns in the first five minutes of play, Norwich took command in its game with Coast Guard to go on and win 27 to 16.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 21 (AP)—Referee John Chapman inadvertently got between the runner and a tackler during a semi-pro football game. The tackler missed the ballcarrier, but not Chapman, whose leg was broken in three places by the impact.

PENN, MICHIGAN GAME TOPS SLATE

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 21—The football map remained virtually unchanged today after warfare over the week-end, but leadership in some sections will be endangered next Saturday, with the Pennsylvania-Michigan game at Ann Arbor topping the entire schedule in national interest.

One of the mighty must fall, barring a deadlock, in which case both would lose much prestige.

While those two are battling it out to preserve unsullied records, elsewhere about the country other elevens will be belting away in top-flight engagements that will change conference standings and the whole trend of sectional races. There are forebodings of upsets to come.

Highlight of the Penn-Michigan game will be the ball-running duel between Penn's Reagan and Michigan's Harmon, who maintained their scoring pace last Saturday. The former made 31 points as Princeton was crushed, 46 to 28, and Harmon picked up 10 more points in leading Michigan to a 28 to 0 win over Illinois.

17 UNBEATEN TEAMS

Thus did Penn and the Michigandeis remain close to the head of the unbeaten, untied parade that includes Notre Dame, Cornell, Fordham, Tennessee, Texas A. and M., Stanford, Columbia, Minnesota, Northwestern, Boston College, Georgetown, Mississippi, Clemson, Navy, Texas, and a few lesser lights.

Notre Dame stayed up there by running up a 61 to 0 score on Carnegie Tech, while Cornell trounced Syracuse, 33 to 6; Fordham defeated Pittsburgh, 24 to 12; Tennessee out-lasted Alabama, 27 to 12; the Texas Aggies downed Texas Christian, 21 to 7; Stanford took Washington State, 26 to 14; Columbia surprised Georgia, 19 to 13; Minnesota defeated Ohio State, 13 to 7; Northwestern ran up a 27 to 7 margin on Wisconsin; Boston College ran wild against Idaho, 60 to 0; Georgetown made it 46 to 4 against V. P. I.; Mississippi stopped Duquesne, 14 to 6; Clemson idled; Navy took Drake, 19 to 0, and Texas belted Arkansas 21 to 0.

Out of all this comes the leaders in various conferences as follows, with each of them unbeaten and untied in its own circuit:

Big Ten—Northwestern, with two wins, which next meets Indiana, the latter being tied with Michigan and Minnesota for runner-up honors. With Michigan meeting Penn, Minnesota tackles Iowa.

Southeastern—Mississippi with two wins, which goes outside the circuit to meet Arkansas, while Tennessee and Georgia Tech, currently in a runner-up deadlock, meet Florida and Auburn, respectively.

CLEMSON WINS TWO

SOUTHERN—Clemson with two wins, expecting to make it three against South Carolina. Duke meets Wake Forest and Washington and Lee tackles V. M. I., with a defeat for the Dukes or W. and L., leaving the other in second place.

SOUTHWEST—Texas A. and M. and Texas with one win apiece are tied for the top and meet Baylor and Rice, respectively.

PACIFIC COAST—Stanford and Washington each has scored two victories and tackle Southern California and California, respectively.

BIG SIX—Missouri leads with two wins, but next faces tough Nebraska, which is deadlocked for second with Oklahoma, to be opposed by Iowa State.

MISSOURI VALLEY—Tulsa out in front all alone with three wins and slated to go outside the circuit to meet Texas Christian.

FEW UPSETS

As for the past week-end, there was scarcely an upset anywhere of consequence.

Besides the scores previously enumerated there were such conclusions as Army 6, Harvard 6; Southern Methodist 20, Auburn 13; Baylor 7, Villanova 0; California 9, U. C. L. A. 7; Duke 13, Colgate 0; Colorado 33 Colorado State 14; Yale 13, Dartmouth 7; Kentucky 24, George Washington 0; Georgia Tech 19, Vanderbilt 0; Holy Cross 13, New York University 7; Oklahoma 14, Kansas State 0; Nebraska 33, Kansas 2; Missouri 30, Iowa State 14; Indiana 10, Iowa 6, Detroit 6, Manhattan 0; North Carolina 13, North Carolina State 7; Southern California 13, Oregon 0; Washington 19, Oregon State 0; Tulane 15, Rice 6.

WONDERLAND REVERE

Mr. Boston

By JACK CONWAY

AL McCOY, LIKE Jack Dempsey, has attained greater popularity in defeat than he had following some of his winning bouts . . . When McCoy left the Garden ring after having dropped a decision to Billy Conn he was accorded the biggest ovation he has received during his ring career . . . This was due to the fact everybody in the Garden recognized the fact McCoy had put up a courageous battle.

AL McCOY

Those persons close to the ringside knew that if a boxer lost the round when he hit low in Massachusetts as they do in New York that Al would have been declared the winner.

When Dempsey lost to Tunney in the Battle of the Long Count the fans felt that the old Tiger was the real victor . . . There are many people who still believe that if Tunney had been obliged to get up at the count of nine that he would have been knocked out.

McCoy, as this writer pointed out before the bout, proved he is a better puncher than Conn . . . Al landed the best sock of the bout in the third round, a short right hand smash to the jaw that sent Conn back against the ropes in a dazed condition . . . If McCoy had been able to get over another healthy punch at that stage of the contest, he would have scored a knockdown.

Matchmaker "Rip" Valenti of the Goodwin Club has not received any reply from Johnny Ray, Conn's manager, to his offer of a $10,000 guarantee and a 35 per cent cut of the gate for a return meeting between the world's light heavyweight champion and McCoy.

There will be more action for ring fans at the Irish American A. A.'s ring tournament at the Arena tonight . . . Later in the season the trial bouts in the All-America diamond belt championship will get under way . . . Boston has been awarded the Eastern finals as well as the grand national finals.

There is a fine crop of New England amateur boxers and they are certain to give an excellent account of themselves against the leading simon pure mitt flingers from other sections of the country.

Jockey Taylor in Sensational Form

JOCKEY WARREN L. TAYLOR is displaying sensational form as he battles for the national jockey championship . . . Taylor added to his list of victories when he brought High Arch into the winner's circle at Rockingham Park last Saturday . . . Taylor was second with Cleaning Time, Sunabell, U-Boat, Mahlette and Peanut Lady . . . The latter reared at the break, and otherwise would probably have won . . . Night Editor under a fine ride from Frankie Maschek was obliged to put on a stirring stretch drive to win by a nose.

There was a bundle of comeback money from Chicago on Transport and Street Arab . . . Transport won, while Street Arab ran out of the money in a race won by Circus Wings which paid $148.40 . . . I hope you had it.

Willie Garner came on from New York to ride Transport and Street Arab . . . Garner failed to make arrangements early enough to secure a New Hampshire license, and not permitted to ride . . . Ted Atkinson was up on Transport and Williams on Street Arab.

Red Shapiro was pleased with the showing of Post Office who got off well and went on to show some running ability . . . Red hopes to win with Post Office before the Rockingham meeting closes . . . U-Boat was flying in the Bennington Handicap, and barely lost to Night Editor.

Harvard Shows Football Improvement

HARVARD DISPLAYED football improvement as it played to a 6 to 6 tie with the Army . . . Northeastern, my alma mater, surprised even this pillar when it won its second straight game of the season . . . The Yale defeat was the third in a row for Dartmouth . . . The Indians have apparently dropped the tomahawk from their equipment since they went Ivy.

There will be a meeting at the Copley Plaza at 8 p. m. of the

3 CHAMPS IN FINAL RING TEST

One New England champion, one former New England champion and two state champions will take part tonight in the fourth and final Golden Gloves elimination tournament, to be staged by the Irish-American A. A. at the Arena.

Dave Andrews

Jimmy Mulligan of Lowell, New England welter king, failed to make the grade last week and will be back tonight in an effort to atone for his failure.

Pat Devine, former New England light heavy king, will try to wade through the 175-pound class, which includes Tony Buckley of Milford, Leo Bronzetti of Framingham, John Nazzaro of Revere and Al Manning of South Boston.

Kenneth Jason of Cohasset, state heavyweight king, will be favored tonight over the rest of the big boys—Henry Sullivan of Lowell, Andrew Correa of Lowell, Chuck Prendible of Charlestown and Dave Bagley of West Newton.

Of the eight championship classes on tonight's slate, the welters seem to possess the most class.

Ten of New England's leading 147-pounders will be in there battling to qualify for the next Monday's grand finals. The ten are:

Mulligan, Andrews, Mike Cocozza, Haverhill, who holds decisions over both Lowell boys; Theo Tuggle, Boston; Vinre Sardo, Revere; Joe Nardone, Woburn; Arthur Morris, Boston; Don McGrath, Cambridge, and Al Brien of Lawrence.

Nine middleweights will compete tonight. They are Paul Maltais, Manchester, N. H.; Ed Youctin, Cambridge; Tom Broderick, Roslindale; James Harvey, South Boston, Charlie Longo, Boston; Leo LeBlanc, Gardner; Roland Roy, Lawrence; Tom Hill, Lowell, and Steve Hutchins, Nashua, N. H.

Those who already have qualified and who will meet the winners of tonight's events in the grand finals next Monday are:

118 Pounds—Eddie DeAngelis, Revere; Paul Bangs, Cambridge; Joe Landry, Gardner.

175 Pounds—Tommy Sullivan, South Boston; Al Belliveau, Cambridge.

RULES GOVERNING THE FOOTBALL CONTEST

NO. 5

The object of the Daily Record-American Football Contest is to select winners of twenty collegiate football games to be played each Saturday. Anyone may enter the contest excepting employes of the Record-American and their families.

The selections are listed on the chart here which is ready to be filled out by the contestant. Simply place an (X) in the space nearest the name of the team you think will win, or if you predict a tie game place the letter (T) in the spaces nearest the names of the tying teams.

Calculate the AVERAGE score of all competing teams, except those for which you predict a tie score. Write winners' and losers' average score in space provided in coupon. Do not write individual scores in spaces or on the coupon. Indicate average scores only by adding scores of all teams and then divide the total by the number of teams competing.

Only ONE solution may be entered by a contestant. All entries must be in the office of the Record-American not later than Midnight Friday, the day before the games.

You need not buy a copy of the Record or American to enter this contest. Tracings of the contest form may be made from copies in the public library or in the Record-American office. Such entries will be acceptable and given equal consideration with those clipped from these newspapers.

A prize of $100.00 will be awarded the person whose entries contain all selections correct. If more than one person submits perfect solutions, $100.00 will be awarded the tieing contestant whose average score tabulations most nearly match with actual average scores of the games. If no perfect list of solutions is entered $50.00 will be awarded to the contestant having the nearest number of selections correct and should two or more contestants tie for this prize the tieing contestant submitting the most nearly correct average scores will receive the award. A prize of $25.00 will be awarded the person submitting the second largest number of correct solutions and should two or more contestants tie for this prize, tieing contestant submitting the most nearly correct average scores will receive the prize. Twenty-five awards of $1.00 each will be given the twenty-five contestants whose entries contain in succession, the next largest number of correct solutions and whose average scores most nearly match the actual scores of the games.

Winners of each week's contest will be announced on the Saturday following the games. The decision of the judges in all cases shall be final.

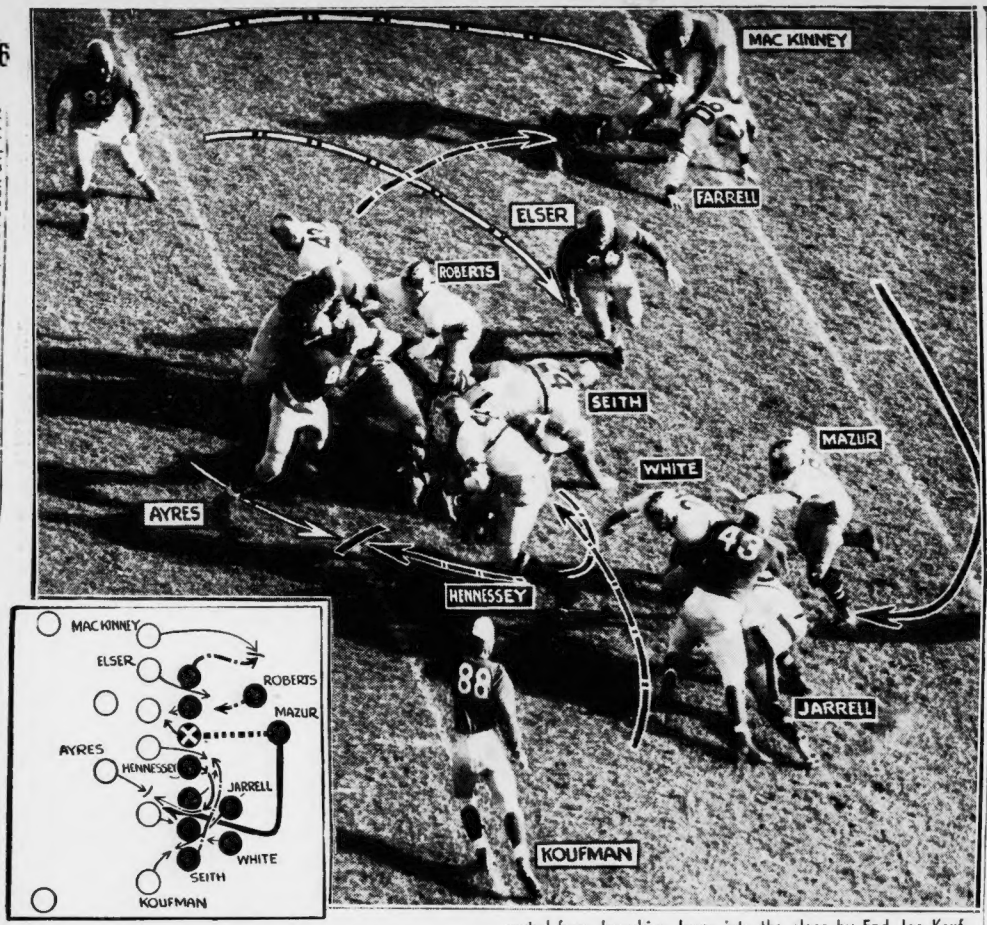
In the event of postponement of any of the games, such games will automatically be excluded from the contest. In the event that the planned date of any game scheduled is changed, then that game is automatically excluded.



MAZUR MYSTIFIES AND MEANDERS—On his way to a 10-yard gain on an off-tackle smash against Harvard is Lowell's Henry Mazur, a B. C. gift to the Army. Harvard, with plenty of respect for "Hank's" passing arm, played cagey in this instance. Some of the Crimson charges rushed in, others delayed to defend against a possible pass. The Soldiers took advantage of the Harvard indecision by opening a hole through which Mazur tore for a first down. The Lowell boy was prevented from breaking loose into the clear by End Joe Koufman (88), one of the Harvards who hesitated about charging in and was able to turn around and nail the ball-carrier from behind. On this play, run to the strong side of an unbalanced line, one Army guard, Hennessey (48), drops back to run interference. The Harvard player rushing in through the resulting opening is mouse-trapped by End Seith (24), who breaks back, and two Soldiers concentrate on brushing aside the Harvard tackle.

BEARS TIE FOR LEAD; WIN 20-0

Lightly regarded no less than a month ago, Boston's amazing Bears now boast a winning streak of four straight games and have moved from the American League cellar to a deadlock for leadership with the powerful Columbus Bulls

The latest triumph of Eddie Casey's charges was turned in at Fenway Park before 10,000 fans, and the Buffalo Indians were the victims, 20 to 0.

Displaying a dazzling passing offense from spreads and other wide open formations, the Bears had little trouble with the opposition.

Andy Karpus and Ernie Fisher put on a chucking exhibtion which set up both touchdowns, and Warren Negri displayed an educated right toe which sent two placements between the uprights, one from the 36 and the other from the 38-yard line.

It was Vito who scored the first touchdown, taking a 17-yard pass from Ernie Wheller and going 25 more after a smart display of broken field running. Ananis then completed the picture by drop kicking the extra point.

The other touchdown came in the final period, Ananis again played an important role.

A 12-yard rifle pass from Karpus to Ananis put the ball on the Indians' 43. Thell Fisher knifed through tackle for five, to tighten the Indians' defense before Karpus went to the air again.

Andy then faded back close to mid-field and uncorked a long aerial shot, which Ananis took on his finger tips for a sensational clutch on the 10-yard line.

The Bears then tried to desert their passing game, and Ananis spun deep on a reverse for a 10-yard loss. Back to the air lanes went Karpus, and he completed a 14-yard pass to Lane just six yards away from a touchdown.

Karpus faded again but faked a pass and cut back through tackle to catch the whole Indian team napping and registred the touchdown.

Negri booted the extra point.

The Bears are really rolling and it would not be the least bit surprising to see this freshman team come up with the league championship.

Bears-Yankees Night Game Off

NEW YORK, Oct. 21 (AP)—The American Professional Football League game between the New York Yankees and the Boston Bears, scheduled for New York on Wednesday night, Oct. 23, has been moved back to Sunday, Nov. 24, the Yankee management announced.

The change was made, officials said, because the evenings have become too cold for the spectators' comfort.

H. C.'s Boratyn Out for Season

WORCESTER, Oct. 21 (AP)—The Holy Cross football squad today counted a heavy toll of injuries from Saturday's 13-7 victory over New York University.

Joe Boratyn, regular fullback, will be lost for the remainder of the season with a broken left wrist, and Tommy Sullivan, the Crusaders' outstanding backfielder, has torn ligaments in his left knee which will keep him idle for at least three weeks.

sideline holding a halting finger to the Umpire. "Kaye" he said, "substituting for Anderson."

Yale knew what it meant as the kid mutely smoothed the dust from his kicking toe. No need to huddle for this one. Kaye ("Two-play, Toe-Kaye" they call him) could mean only one thing! The ball was snapped and the midget clicked his toe against the leather—a shot that might have been straight and true for the deciding points except for the thick chest of Dartmouth's left tackle, Eddie O'Brien, Jr. (Son of Boston's surgeon referee.) Eddie, Jr., blocked it!

That, otherwise, would have been the story! For Kaye is a wispy, undersized lad who never makes a tackle, never carries the ball, never blocks for a teammate, and only has two duties to perform—the initial kickoff and an occasional try for a field goal. He's a non-athletic specialist whom Ducky Pond discovered two years ago among the managerial competitors picking up discarded towels, chasing loose footballs and valeting the varsity heroes as they bathe, towel and dress. But he could, and can, kick a football, his only claim to sporting skill. So Ducky plucked him from the managerial staff, gave him a set of Yale harness and sat him down on the varsity bench, occasional crocking his finger and saying, "All right Howie." Then the wispy cricket, who has none of the normal football requisites, strips off his woolen hood, dashes onto the field, kicks his goal or does not kick it, and comes dashing off again—as he did Saturday.

Maybe Hollywood's Mr. Blevins can make a movie plot out of that!

DATE 1940 _____

Crisp fall days have added zest to the sport of shooting and provided a stimulus to entries for the William Randloph Hearst Citizen Marksmanship Competition, the rifle shooting classic which is to be held in New England under the sponsorship of the Boston-American-Record.

The Hearst shooters will shortly be drilling away with their .22 calibre rifles on the ranges of New England, intent on qualifying for the Hearst Championship which has been set for approximately May 1, 1941.

So many inquiries have been sent in to the rifle editor of the American-Record, that we have been publishing from day to day the names of shooting organizations in New England.

Today we print those clubs of Rhode Island. Persons interested in identifying themselves with any one of these clubs which happens to be near his home, may get desired information by writing the club secretaries whose names are listed below. Here are the Rhode Island clubs:

Woonsocket Rifle Club, David L. Ketterley, 44 Bernice ave., Woonsocket; Bristol Train of Artillery R. C., Lt. Col. Albert Hartley, 61 Constitution st., Bristol; East Warren Rod and Gun Club, Joseph Prouty, Jr., 15 Hall st., Warren; Narragansett Rifle Club, H. E. Knowe, 517 Spring st., Newport; Newport Rifle Club, William H. Thurston, East Main rd., Portsmouth; Providence Police Revolver and Athletic Association, John T. Cassily, 122 Sinson st., Providence; Providence Rifle Club, George R. Morrell, 159 New Meadow rd., Barrington; Snipers Rifle Club, Isaac C. Hall, 127 Columbia ave., Gaspee Plateau; Varnum Continentals Rifle Association, Emil A. Stevens, East Greenwich; Westerly Rifle Club, Joseph Gordon, 9 Washington st., Westerly.

Redskins, Bears Pro Grid Leaders

CHICAGO, Oct. 21 (AP)—Washington Redskins and Chicago Bears, employing widely divergent offensive methods, are headed in the same general direction—a spot in the playoff for the National Professional Football Championship.

The Redskins, only undefeated and untied team in the National League, utilized a deadly air attack again Sunday to chalk up their fifth triumph, while the Bears, a ponderous and devastating rushing eleven, won their fourth decision in five starts to take over first place in the Western Division.

Sammy Baugh passed the Philadelphia Eagles silly, tossing three touchdown heaves as Washington won, 34 to 17. Baugh connected for 18 of 24 aerials for 258 yards. The other passers completed two out of three others, boosting the total yardage in the air to 283.

47-YARD FIELD GOAL

The Bears, thwarted repeatedly in the first half of their battle with Brooklyn, broke loose in the final periods to carve out a 16 to 7 victory.

Sollie Sherman passed to George Wilson for the first score, but the Dodgers tied it quickly with a toss from Banks McFadden to Ace Parker which netted 71 yards.

Joe Maniaci added the second touchdown on a 32-yard jaunt, and Bob Snyder sewed up the game with a 47-yard field goal. The Bears tried 55 rushing plays and rolled up 300 yards, adding 117 yards on seven completed passes for a total yardage of 417.

The New York Giants, defending titleholders in the Eastern division, downed Pittsburgh, 12 to 0, producing this total on a touchdown point after, field goal and safety.

111,665 SEE 5 GAMES

Parker Hill regained his 1939 form Sunday and paced the Cleveland Rams to a 26 to 14 decision over the Chicago Cardinals.

Hall accounted for the first two touchdowns on scoring heaves of 62 and 65 yards, and gave the Rams a lead they never relinquished.

SPECIALIST PREVENTS BALDNESS

BOSTON, Oct. 20 (JW)—"If you are losing your hair or have an annoying scalp disorder, you can be helped," says John E. Warner, noted scalp specialist. "By correcting and eliminating the cause of your trouble I can prevent baldness and give you a normal, healthy scalp. My services are NOT offered to those completely bald (except cases of alopecia areata) because hair once lost cannot be re-grown. Don't wait until disfiguring baldness has permanently ruined your appearance. If your head itches, or your hair is excessively dry or oily and falling, take heed of these signs of approaching baldness and come in for a free hair and scalp examination today. No case is ever accepted unless I feel sure you can be helped. My scientific treatment is superior and more effective because of constant research and study; yet the fees are within the reach of all. Come in today and learn how I can help you just as thousands of others, troubled as you are, have been helped." The Warner offices are conveniently located at 515 Washington St., near the corner of West Street (opposite R. H. White's), Suite 710-715. Phone Hub. 1705. Hours 10 A. M. to 8 P. M. Daily—Saturdays to 6 P. M. Fees for treatment are very moderate. There is a separate department for women. Adv.
